"BLOODY BREATHITT" EXPECTS WAR TODAY

Troops Follow Mountaineers Into Feud Center and Situation Is Threatening.

ELECTIONS ELSEWHERE

Republicans in Eastern States Full of Confidense Issues Varied and Important.

JACKSON, Ky., Nov. 1.—With a large number of state militia in control tonight and an undercurrent of apprehension over the tense situation, people were wondering tonight what the election would bring forth for "bloody Breathitt." Both the Democratic and Republican managers charge each other with trying to steal the election

Circuit Judge J. P. Adams, the incumbent and Republican candidate for re-election, who made the request on Governor Willson for militia to preserve order during the election, said tonight:

"In requesting troops, I was heeding the appeals of the good people to take immediate action to prevent a conflict and to preserve peace and order among the people. I felt it my duty not to wait until men were killed before taking steps to bring about peace and good order and I have no doubt that the presence of the troops prevented serious trouble and perhaps saved many lives. The first thing is to prevent murder and assassination, let the election go as it may. I care nothing for the indignation expressed by some at the presence of the troops if I can save their lives from the assassins."

O H Pollard chairman of the Democratic committee, said.

"All this trouble was brought about by Republican officials in their determination to take the election Their action in respect to ballots and the presence of soldiers under command of Judge Adams, who refused to put them under command of Sheriff Crawford, as required by law, has created indignation on the part of the law-abiding citizens, irrespective of party."

The group of armed Kentucky mountain men, headed by former Sheriff Callahan, left their entrenchment in Jackson shortly after the arrival of the Lexington militia company, and tonight the soldiers had followed them 22 miles into Crockettsville, the home of Callahan and the voting precinct that is expected to furnish most of the excitement tomorrow.

The population is quiet, but inclined to wait anxiously word from Crockettsville, where the soldiers, the Callahan and Smith and Deaton factions are also stationed.

Women for Armor.

Scenes today on the streets of Jackson, capital of the Hargis political wars of a few years ago and the feudal center of the United States, were thrilling Callahan, leaning on the arm of two women relatives to ward off an assassin's bullet, of which he daily lives in fear, was perhaps the prominent figure

Circuit Judge Adams and Judge L. S. Redwine, his Democratic opponent, harangued an audience in the gruesome court house of Breathitt, in which feudists, soldiers and peaceful citizens were strangely mingled.

As both candidates begged for law

KNOCKS POLICEMAN DOWN WITH ROCK

LARGE CROWD SEES FIERCE FIGHT IN STREET.

Charles M. Poe May Be Charged With Assaulting Patrolman Locke With Deadly Weapon.

Much excitement was caused across the street from The Gazette building about 11 o'clock last night when Charles M Poe proprietor of the Kennebec rooming house at 132 South Cascade avenue forcibly resisted arrest by Patrolman Luther Locke, knocking the officer down with a large rock The policeman finally subdued the unruly prisoner and, calling the patrol wagon, took him to jail. Poe will probably be tried on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and resisting and striking an officer, although a charge of assault with a deadly weapon may be preferred instead of the less serious one

Lands Prisoner in Jail

Officer Locke, who was informed that Poe was carrying a revolver came up to him and placed him in temporary custody while he searched the prisoner. He found a revolver in Poe's hip pocket and just as he was transferring the weapon to his own pocket, Poe pulled a rock out of his own pocket and struck the officer with great force on the head knocking him down. Locke immediately arose and after a fierce tussle which was witnessed by a large crowd finally landed his man in the patrol wagon.

SPECTACULAR THREE-CORNERED FIGHT ENDS WITH EVERY FACTION CONFIDENT

Bannard, on Business Platform, Will Carry City by 50,000, Says Parsons---Tammany Repeaters Are Rounded Up.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—New York's triangular political campaign ended tonight. William J. Gaynor, Democratic candidate for mayor, made his final speech in Harlem. Otto T. Bannard, Republican and Fusion candidate, closed his campaign with a noonday address on the waterfront and a brief talk to negro voters at a downtown Baptist church at night. William R. Hearst, Independent candidate, wound up his formal speechmaking last night at Madison Square garden, but lesser lights of his campaign burned red fire and indorsed his cause with a final burst of oratory at open air meetings in the four corners of Manhattan tonight, while many of the the minor candidates had meetings of their own in doubtful districts.

All Are Confident.

In each of the rival camps complete confidence in the result was expressed.

Charles F. Murphy, Tammany leader, said:

"We are well satisfied with the result. Gaynor will receive more votes than both the other candidates for mayor, and he will carry the whole Democratic ticket with him in every borough."

Herbert Parsons, Republican leader, said:

"Our fight against Tammany misrule has won. Reports from every assembly district in the greater city show Bannard will be elected by 50,000 plurality. The entire Fusion ticket will go through with a landslide vote."

Charles H. Gehring, for the Hearst forces, said:

"Hearst will get more than 300,000 votes, winning by 100,000 plurality over the Tammany candidate. I look for a landslide to Hearst."

All three sides were agreed that about 600,000 votes would be cast out of a total registration of 644,500.

About $125,000 was wagered on the result of the mayoralty contest in New York today. In the financial district the prevailing odds favored Gaynor by about 2 to 1.

Bannard, in his closing appeal to voters, said:

"I have fought this campaign against Tammany Hall, against corruption, waste, graft and improper contracts. Public improvements must be solely for the public good and not for plunder. Petty graft must be stamped out. I have favored as much personal liberty as is consistent with law and order."

The final word in the Hearst campaign came in a brief statement from the Hearst headquarters, expressing confidence in the result and promising a clean and independent government

"The victory tomorrow is certain" the statement said "The vote for Hearst will be enormous It will mean the end of Tammany and a new era of government in this city"

Rounding Up Repeaters.

There were big roundups of alleged repeaters today as a result of the investigations of the registration rolls by the state superintendent of elections and his men One man, convicted of illegal registration was sentenced to three years in Sing Sing, while two others got indeterminate sentences of from six months to four years. A special grand jury in the borough of Queens returned 50 indictments tonight against men said to have registered illegall

The courts are prepared to handle a great volume of election day business tomorrow. Four justices of the supreme court were assigned to sit in special term at the New York county court house. Eight other justices announced they would hear election cases in other parts of the city

Among watchers at the polls will be nearly 2,000 student volunteers recruited from Columbia, Yale and Princeton.

This brief but spirited campaign has been conducted largely upon the old issue of opposition to Tammany Hall; but, aside from the mayoralty contest there has been a bitter underlying struggle for the capture of the "board of estimate and apportionment," a body which in the next administration will control the expenditure of nearly a billion dollars, including public improvements and the annual budget, which this year is approximately $165,000,000.

Hearst and Bannard have conducted their campaign largely along similar lines, both making pleas for the defeat of Tammany, Hearst entered the campaign at the last moment as a passive candidate to assist the ticket below him, but as the campaign progressed he began attacking Bannard as well as Gaynor with the apparent hope of election. Bannard has avoided personalities and adhered to a discussion of the business issues.

HIMEBAUGH WANTS TOTAL OF $57,198

STILL FIGURING ON REDUCING CERTAIN SALARIES.

Thinks, However, That City Attorney and Deputy Auditor Should Get More Than at Present.

A total of $57,198 will be required next year by the department of finance. This includes $48,975 for miscellaneous items not connected with any special one of the five municipal departments, and $8,223 for expenses of the finance department proper. These figures are contained in an estimate furnished to Mayor Avery by the finance commissioner yesterday.

The sum of $1,653 is needed for the treasurer's office, including the treasurer's salary of $1,500 and minor items, $3,670 for the clerk's office, including the clerk's salary of $1,500, the salaries of the deputy and stenographer, $960 each, and smaller items, and $3,700 for the auditor's office, embracing the salaries of auditor and deputy, $1,200 and $1,020, respectively, and other items

Miscellaneous Items.

The total of $48,975 for miscellaneous items is made up as follows

YOUNG MAN, STAY ON FARM TAFT'S ADVICE

AGRICULTURE OFFERS BEST OPPORTUNITY.

President Reaches Alabama Tonight. Was Pleasant Day in Mississippi.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov 1.—President Taft would have the young men of America stay on the farm with its plenty and certainty rather than to decide on a life in the city. Mr. Taft indicated his sentiments in this respect during an address at the state fair here today. He said

We must admit that the occupation of the farmer is among the one or two most independent occupations that go to make this country great—and a state which is great because of it is entitled to recognition as typifying Americanism in the highest degree.

We have arrived at a time in the development of this country and the world when old methods of agriculture must be discarded if we would keep up with the procession. Land is becoming too valuable to treat it in the old, wasteful way. I am glad to note Mississippi is at the head of the column with one of the best agricultural institutions in the country

Here you have been able to restrain that tendency of your young men, laborers and others to come into the cities and live in tenements, that they may be where the wheels go round. If I were advising a young man as to his future profession. I should say to him there probably was greater opportunity for real reward in the profession of agriculture than in any other.

"There is much to be done in the way of education of your laborers. I am glad to think your large negro population is well adapted to the cultivation of provident methods, they may grow to be good citizens and useful to the community by acquiring land, as they have acquired it in the past and becoming strong farmers and useful.

The question of river and water transportation is being agitated in a way as never before. I am sure I speak for the whole people in saying they do not propose to be niggardly in either issuance of bonds or the appropriation of money to make improvements that really will be improvements in the matter of transportation and rates.

But we have to be certain what it is we are doing, and that we are not going to pour money down a rat hole when we put millions into the contemplated improvements

The President had a long, but pleasant day. He lunched with Governor and Mrs. Noel and met a number of the state's distinguished citizens. Tonight the President was the guest of honor at a dinner [illegible] which the Vanderbilts and [illegible] brought on a special car from Chicago.

President Taft left at midnight for Columbus, Miss., the birthplace of Secretary Dickinson. He will spend three hours there and will reach Birmingham at 7.30 o'clock tomorrow night.

ACCURACY WILL MARK COMING ENUMERATION

NEXT CENSUS WILL SET NEW STANDARD.

Collecting of Data Will Require Army of Men and Cost $4,000,000.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

II.—GATHERING THE DATA

On the 15th day of next April, 65,000 men will start out to gather the information upon which the thirteenth census will be based Never before has such careful preparation been made to secure honest, accurate and complete returns. The director of the census realizes the difficulty of securing good, competent and faithful enumerators, because the period is too short to justify employed men to leave their regular work, and the pay is too small to attract the best men. It will take 15 days to make the city enumerations and 30 days for the country districts. The pay will amount to about $2 a day in the country and a trifle more in the cities.

It was suggested that the position of

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN, Denver

DANGER IN ICE-COLD DRINKS

Ice-cold drinks and food is injudicious as is very hot food The nearer the temperature to body heat the better; and this is one of the benefits of retaining food long in the mouth, aside from that of thorough mastication, and aside from mixture with the saliva, which is perhaps not in itself so important as has been generally supposed, for experiments show that the conversion of starch into sugar in the mouth is slight The interior of the body is not adapted to rapid adjustment to sudden changes in temperature, and acute congestion results from introducing very cold water. Ices as should never be cold. Death sometimes results from drinking much iced water Instead of drinking very cold water or swallowing ice cream hastily in hot weather, apply cold water to the head and nape.

A NEW ROLE FOR THE PRESIDENT.

ARMY OF LOBBYISTS WILL DEMAND OF CONGRESS DEEPENING OF MISSISSIPPI

Deep Waterways Convention Adopts Plan With Gusto---Pinchot Replies to Inspired Attacks on Forest Bureau.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—Adopting President Taft's suggestion that the time for oratory has passed, the Lakes to the Gulf Deep Waterways convention tonight decided to send 500 lobbyists to Washington to demand that Congress deepen the Mississippi river.

A resolution to that effect, offered by David R Francis of Missouri, was adopted. It follows:

Resolved, That the president of the Lakes to the Gulf Deep Waterways association be requested to appoint 500 delegates from our organization to visit Washington and to present to the proper committee of Congress and to the heads of our government the resolutions adopted by this convention and at the same time to act as delegates to the Rivers and Harbors congress, to be held in that city, December 8, 9 and 10

There was silence for a moment after the resolution was read. The lobby idea apparently shocked many delegates for the moment. Then somebody turned loose an old-fashioned rebel yell, and the resolution was adopted with a whoop. In the confusion it is lar report of the resolution comittee had been adopted.

The resolutions declared the federal government "should enter upon a definite policy and plan of waterway development" beginning with the improvement of the Mississippi and Illinois rivers, as a main trunk of a great waterways system, in such a way as to open effective navigation between the Gulf of Mexico and the Great lakes; such main trunk line to be developed with constant reference to the concurrent development of the tributaries."

The issuance of popular bonds in small denominations was urged upon Congress as a means of paying for the great undertakings.

The principal feature of the convention today was the addresses of Secretary of War Dickinson and Gifford Pinchot, chief of the United States forest service. The various questions in connection with the plans for improvement of the Mississippi river and its tributaries were brought up in this way and were discussed by the delegates.

Mr. Dickinson urged that caution be exercised in the plan for the proposed "lakes-to-the-gulf" waterway, saying the work was too vast and costly to be improvidently undertaken. "It so vitally affects the fortunes of so large a territory that no immature plan, nor one that will not be acquiesced in by the country, should have your advocacy," the speaker declared.

He added, "Our people will undertake any expenditure that they are convinced is well justified."

Pinchot's Address

Gifford Pinchot spoke as follows

The connection between forests and rivers is like that between father and son No forests, no rivers So a forester may not be wholly beyond his depth when he talks about streams The conquest of our rivers is one of the largest commercial questions now before us.

The commercial consequences of river development are incalculable Its results cannot be measured by the yard stick of present commercial needs River improvement means better conditions to transportation than we have now, but it means development, too We cannot see this problem clearly and see it whole in the light of the past alone

The actual problems of river development are not less worthy of our best attention than their commercial results Every river is a unit from its source to its mouth If it is to be given its highest usefulness to all the people, and serve them for all the uses they can make of it, it must be developed with that idea clearly in mind To develop a river for navigation alone, or power alone or irrigation alone is often like using a sheep for mutton, or a steer for beef, and throwing away the leather or wool A river is a unit but its uses are many, and with our present knowledge there can be no excuse for sacrificing one use to another if both can be subserved

Favors Commission

A progressive plan for the development of our waterways is essential Pending the completion of that plan, which should neither be awakened by excessive haste nor drowned in excessive deliberation, work should proceed at once on some of the greater projects which we know already will be essential under any plan that may be devised First and foremost of these by unanimous consent is the improvement of the Mississippi river

A comprehensive and progressive plan of the kind we need can be made in one way only and that is by a commission of the best men in the United States appointed directly by the President of the United States

Such a plan must consider every use to which our rivers can be put and every means available for their control It must deal with such great questions as the relation of the states and the nation in the construction and control of the work, and the co-ordina-

THOUSANDS WILL SEE TUBERCULOSIS EXHIBIT

Program for Tonight Includes Addresses by Prominent Medical Men.

SEVERAL CHANGES MADE

Committee Revises Program and Prepares to Entertain Hundreds More Room Necessary?

Almost every resident of the Pikes Peak region is awaiting with interest the opening tonight of the campaign in connection with the International Tuberculosis exhibit now in the Durkee building, and it is probable that the nightly programs and the exhibit, which will be open every day, will be attended by thousands of people before the closing program next Tuesday night.

Dr. P. O. Hanford, secretary of the committee of 15, which has charge of the arrangements, said last night. "We have had so many offers of assistance that we have been obliged to refuse as many as are now on the program. There has been no desire on our part to slight anybody but the result of our lack of time has been to cut out some of the organizations which we wished to place on the program. Already the capacity of the hall is likely to be taxed, and the public may expect to see an announcement that the exhibition has been removed to a larger hall. It is the intention to reproduce this exhibit with local features and in a purely local manner in the future, and at that time all who wish will be allowed to take part."

To-night's Program.

The program for tonight follows Address of welcome, Mayor H F Avery address on the general work of the state association, Dr George W Holden of Denver president of the Colorado Association for the Prevention and Control of Tuberculosis address, Dr. P. O Hanford, for the El Paso County Medical society, address Dr Omer R. Gullett, for the city health department. Dr A C Magruder will preside If the time permits E L. Cosper, traveling director of the exhibit, will give a stereopticon lecture

Women to Have Charge.

Tomorrow night's program which will be devoted to the city Federation of Women's clubs is as follows

Five and 10-minute talks by Mrs Francis W Goddard, "The Neglect of the Early Stages of Tuberculosis" Mrs. H L. Hollister of Pueblo, president of the Federated Women's Clubs of Colorado, "The Campaign Against Tuberculosis" Mrs. Ida M Hamilton, president of the City Federation of Women's clubs "Contagion," Miss Fonetta Flansburg, "Fresh Air," Mrs. A L. Mowry, "Food," and Dr. Josephine L. Peavey, "The Causes of Tuberculosis"

Many Changes Made

Many changes in the programs for the following days and night were made at the meeting of the committee yesterday afternoon. Thursday night John Dietrich, superintendent of public schools, will preside, and an address will be made by a member of the

20-MILL LEVY WILL FALL SHORT $46,872

APPROPRIATIONS REQUESTED EXCEED REVENUES.

Finance Commissioner Himebaugh Submits Report Showing Necessity of Reduction.

Predictions in The Gazette yesterday morning that a 20-mill levy will not meet the total municipal appropriations requested by the commissioners for next year were fulfilled in the formal estimate of Finance Commissioner Himebaugh yesterday, despite a report published in an afternoon paper that a 20-mill levy will more than meet the grand total of appropriations asked.

Himebaugh shows that the total appropriations asked for aggregate $1,115,346 44, and the estimated revenue from all sources other than tax levy, is $196,765, leaving $280,681 44 to be raised by tax levy. A 20-mill levy on the city's assessed valuation of $12,814,000 would amount to $261,706 80, or $18,872 64 less than is required to meet the full amount of the appropriations asked for.

It's a case of either pruning down the appropriations or adding a special levy for payment of bonded indebtedness sinking funds, etc, which are the only payments for which the charter permits an excess of 12 mills 20-mill levy Mayor Avery will file with the various estimates, and will [illegible]

ARMY OF LOBBYISTS WILL BESIEGE CONGRESS

tion of rail and river transportation. The engineering difficulties may be larger than any we have yet solved The adjustment of opposite demands between conflicting interests and localities, and other questions of large reach, and often of great legal complexity, will tax the powers of the best men we have No part of the work will require greater temperance, wisdom, and foresight than certain questions of policy and law

I have observed in the course of some experience that difficulties originating with the law are peculiarly apt to foster misconceptions. It happens that the service with which I have the honor to be connected supplies just now a typical example

Within the Law.

Certain newspapers have said of late that the forest service has gone beyond the law in carrying out its work This assertion has been repeated so persistently that there is danger that it may be believed The friends of conservation must not be led to think that before the forest service can proceed legally with its present work all the hazards and compromises of new legislation must be faced

Fortunately the charge of illegal action is absolutely false. The forest service has had ample legal authority for everything it has done Not once since it was created has any charge of illegality, despite the most searching investigation and the bitterest attack, ever led to reversal or reproof by either house of congress or by the congressional committee

Since the creation of the forest service the expenditure of more than $11-000,000 has passed successfully the scrutiny of the treasury of the United States Most significant of all not once has the forest service been defeated as to any vital legal principle underlying its work in any court or administrative tribunal of last resort Thus those who make the law and those who interpret it seem to agree that our work has been legal

But it is not enough to say that the forest service has kept within the law. Other qualifications go to make efficiency in a government bureau. A bureau may keep within the law and yet fail to get results

Two Points of View

When . . . is needed for the public good there are two . . . points of view regarding . . . of an administrative . . . forcing the law One . . . the . . . express a . . . authority . . . directing . . . thus sought and found . . . nothing is done The other asks Is there any justification in law for doing this desirable thing and having thus sought and found a legal justification what the public good demands is done I hold it to be the first duty of a public officer to obey the law But I hold it to be his second duty, and a close second to do everything the law will let him do for the public good and not merely what the law compels or directs him to do

It is the right . . . well as the duty of a public officer to be zealous in the public service That is why the public service is worth while To every public officer the law should be not a goad to drive him to his duty but a tool to help him in his work And I maintain that it is likewise his right and duty to seek by every proper means from the legal authorities set over him such interpretations of the law as will best help him to serve his country

Let the public officer take every lawful chance to use the law for the public good The better use he makes of it the better public servant he becomes One man with a jack-knife will build a ladder Another with a full tool chest cannot make a footstool The man with the jack-knife will often reach the higher level I am for the man with the jack-knife I believe in the man who does all he can, and the best he can, with the means at his command That is precisely what the forest service has been trying to do with the money and the law congress has placed in its hands

People Awakening.

President Taft's recent utterances in favor of conservation have gone far to increase the public appreciation of its national importance Every public officer responsible for any part of the conservation of natural resources is a trustee of the public property. If conservation is vital to the welfare of this nation now and hereafter, as the President has so wisely declared, then few positions of public trust are so important, and few opportunities for constructive work so large Such officers are concerned with the greatest issues which have come before this nation since the Civil war They may hope to serve the nation as few men ever can Their care for our forests, waters, lands and minerals is often the only thing that stands between the public good and the something-for-nothing men, who like the daughters of the horse leech, are forever crying, give, give The intelligence, initiative, and steadfastness that can withstand the unrelenting pressure of the special interests are worth having, and I am proud to belong to a service which has given proof of all three But we need the counter pressure from the people in their own interest far more often than we get it

The public welfare cannot be subserved merely by walking blindly in the old ruts Times change, and the public needs change with them The man who would serve the public to the level of its needs must look ahead, and one of his most difficult problems will be to make old tools answer new uses—uses some of which at least were never imagined when the tools were made. That is one reason why constructive foresight is one of the great constant needs of every growing nation

The forest service proposes to use the tools—obey the law—made by the representatives of the people. But the law cannot give specific directions in advance to meet every need and detail of administration The law cannot make brains nor supply conscience. Therefore, the forest service proposes also to serve the people by the intelligent and purposeful use of the law and every lawful means at its command for the public good And for that intention it makes no apology

Full Legal Authority.

Fortunately for the forest service, the point of view which it worked out for itself under the pressure of its responsibilities was found to be that of the supreme court

In the case of the United States vs. Macdaniel (7 Pet, 13-14), involving the administrative powers of the head of a department, the supreme court of the United States said

"He is limited in the exercise of his powers by the law but it does not follow that he must show statutory provision for everything he does No government could be administered on such principles To attempt to regulate, by law, the minute movements of every part of the complicated machinery of government, would evince a most unpardonable ignorance on the subject. Whilst the great outlines of its movements may be marked out, and limitations imposed on the exercise of its powers, there are numberless things which must be done, that can neither be anticipated nor defined, and which are essential to the proper action of the government."

Congress has given to the secretary of agriculture, acting through the forest service, the specific task of administering the national forests, with full power to perform it, and has provided that he "may make such rules and regulations and establish such service as will insure the objects of said reservations namely, to regulate their occupancy and use and to preserve the forests thereon from destruction." Every exercise of the powers granted to the secretary of agriculture by statute has been in accordance with the principles laid down by Chief Justice Marshall 90 years ago in the case of McCulloch vs. Maryland (4 Wheat., 421) when he said as to powers delegated by the federal constitution to congress:

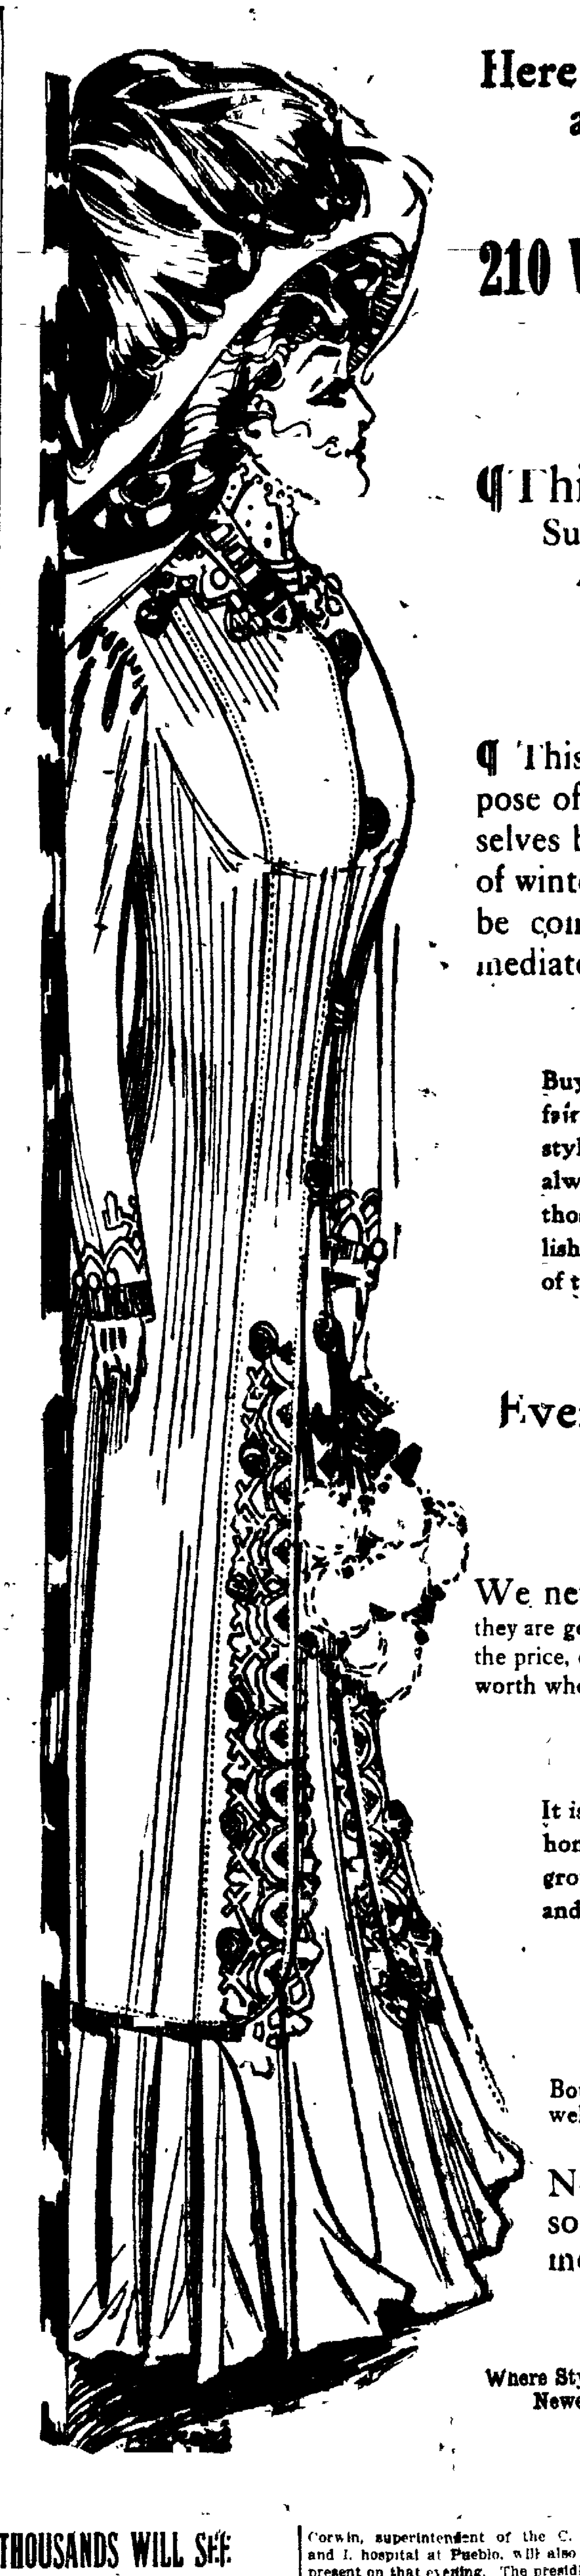

"Let the end be legitimate let it be within the scope of the constitution, and all means which are appropriate, which are plainly adapted to that end, which are not prohibited, but consist with the letter and spirit of the constitution, are constitutional."

Proud of Enemies.

After the transfer of the national forests from the interior department to the forest service in 1905, some things were done that had never been done before, such as initiating government control over water power monopoly in the national forests giving preference to the public over commercial corporations in the use of the forests and trying to help the small man make a living rather than the big man to make a profit (but always with the effort to be just to both) Always and everywhere we have set the public welfare above the advantage of the special interests

Because it did these things the forest service has made enemies of some of whom it is justly proud It has been easy for these enemies to raise the cry of illegality novelty and excess of zeal But in every instance the service is fortified either by express statutes or by decisions of the supreme court and other court of the secretary of the interior of the comptroller or the attorney general or by general principles of law which are beyond dispute If there is novelty it consists simply in the way these statutes decisions and principles have been used to protect the public The law officers of the forest service have the nation for their client and they are proud to work zealously for the public as they would in private practice for a fee

Here Is a Store That Has Never Been Out-Done, and So Far as We Know Never Equalled

210 Winter Suits Divided Into Three Groups and Priced Scandalously Low

¶ This Sale Embraces Every Women's and Misses' Suit in Our Store Selling at the Following Quoted Regular Prices And It's No Mere Handful, Either

¶ This event is prepared for the sole purpose of protecting the public, as well as ourselves by hurrying out our brand new stock of winter suits at prices that simply cannot be compared prices that will compel immediate buying.

Buying clothes is a serious matter. Consider fairness of original selling price, quality and style. Also, know that Kaufman's prices are always from $7.50 to $10.00 per suit less than those of the same quality sold in other establishments. That is the most important point of the sale.

Every Price is a Legitimate Reduction

We never cajole the public into believing they are getting a real bargain by boosting or tampering with the price, or marking it for just a trifle more than it is really worth when it first reaches the store.

It is honesty that has built this business, it is honesty that will continue its remarkable growth. We stand back of every suit we sell and guarantee it down to the smallest detail.

WRIGHT DOES STUNTS

COLLEGE PARK, Md, Nov. 1—After Lieutenant Lahm had broken the record today by remaining in the air longer than any pupils of the Wright brothers in this country the proceedings were closed by a brilliant flight of two minutes by Wilbur in which he made such steep ascents that many spectators feared the machine was about to turn turtle

TREASURY REPORT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—A working balance in treasury offices much the same as a month ago—a little less than $31 000 000—a balance in the general fund of $89 103,678 or approximately $6,000,000 less than a month ago, the ordinary disbursements overrunning the ordinary receipts by $1,923,896, and an aggregate debt which decreased $115,544, are some features shown by today's treasury statements for October

FRANCE RETALIATES WITH MAXIMUM RATES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—France's Roland for America's Oliver is the action of the Paris government in putting in effect today the maximum tariff against goods coming from the United States It did not surprise the treasury officials Ever since notice was given to Paris that the reciprocity agreement, with its low rates on both sides of the Atlantic, so far as the two governments were concerned, would expire at the end of October, this country has been anticipating the step taken at Paris today This government cannot directly meet the French maximum until next spring but the question of what to do has been canvassed

TO SHOOT AIRSHIPS

WASHINGTON Nov 1—To devise some means of defense against aerial invasion, the bureau of ordnance of the war department, it was learned today, will begin a series of experiments of shooting at air craft with cannon.

There is one public house in London for each 730 inhabitants and order, the Callahan party, armed and booted, passed through Jackson to their horses and retired to Crocketsville.

"BLOODY BREATHITT"

It will be determined tomorrow by Judge Adams whether troops will be sent to Oakdale, another Breathitt precinct in which trouble is feared.

The voting places at Crockettsville and Oakdale were changed recently to a point half way from the lands of Callahan and Berry Turner, a Breathitt county "type," and in the middle of a clearing buttressed in a circle by shelters for the species of sharpshooters of whom the Breathitt citizen is wary. With the soldiers present, however, no successful disorder is expected.

Republicans Confident.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1.—Pennsylvania tomorrow will elect a supreme court justice, a treasurer and an auditor general, and pass on 10 constitutional amendments.

The importance of the state election has been overshadowed by the contest in Philadelphia for the election of a district attorney. Senator Penrose and the other Republican leaders, have been bending every effort to re-electing Samuel P. Rotan, district attorney, over his opponent, D. Clarence Gibboney.

Chairman Andrews of the Republican state committee, predicts the election of the Republican state ticket by a majority of 150,000. Chairman Dewalt of the Democratic state committee claims that the nominees of the party will be successful, but gives no figures.

After a bitter campaign, leaders of the Republican organization and their opponents express confidence.

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—The question whether Governor Eben S. Draper and the balance of the Republican state ticket shall continue in office or give place to James H. Vahey, Democratic candidate for governor, and other nominees of that ticket, will be decided at the polls tomorrow.

The Republicans claim the state by a plurality ranging from 30,000 to 40,000 for governor and higher figures for the rest of the candidates, while the Democrats predict Vahey's election by from 10,000 to 15,000 and a victory by a narrow margin for Eugene N. Foss over Lieutenant Governor Louis A. Frothingham.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 1.—The silent vote" tonight was a confessed enigma to both parties in the contest between Mayor Tom L. Johnson, who seeks a fifth consecutive term, and Hermann C. Baehr, Republican, his chief opponent. Republicans profess to see in the apathy of the campaign a sign that everyone's mind is made up, and that the result is in their favor. Post odds in betting circles favor the re-election of Mayor Johnson, but slumped somewhat late tonight.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 1.—Extraordinary interest has developed in the election of municipal offices in the city of Indianapolis tomorrow because of the bearing results will have on the next session of the legislature. The next legislature will choose a successor to United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge, and also probably will be called upon to deal with further saloon legislation.

Gov. Thomas R. Marshall tonight wired to Captain Calvert of the Indiana National guard company at South Bend, Ind., to have his men ready to move at a moment's notice to Gary, where there is much turmoil over the election tomorrow, according to information reaching the governor's office. Late today, Thomas Knotts, Democratic candidate for mayor of Gary, telephoned to the governor that Sheriff Grant had chosen Republicans as his deputies. According to Knotts, the first move of the new force of deputies was to place the entire police force under arrest.

GOT THIRD DEGREE

Educator, Charged With Burglary, Tells of Torture to Secure Confession."

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 1.—Peter Miller, physician, lecturer on economics and holder of degrees from European colleges, who is on trial for burglary, took the witness stand in his own defense today, and told a story of beatings administered to him by the police to extort a confession. Miller is his own attorney.

He charged Captain of Detectives Charles Tennant of assaulting him and kicking him in the face, after knocking him down with a bludgeon. He said that finally Prosecuting Attorney George F. Vanderveer came to the assistance of Tennant, and, by threats and intimations, sought to make him admit something of which he was not guilty. He steadfastly refused, until after 10 days of torture, he said, when he pleaded guilty to anything the police asked him.

KNOX IN CONFERENCE WITH JAP COMMISSIONER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Baron Shidasawa, head of the Japanese commercial commissioners touring this country, held a private conference today with Secretary Knox. Nothing is known as to what transpired at the conference. The commissioners had concluded to visit the state department and were about to leave, when Secretary Knox informed the baron that he wished to talk to him privately.

mit his budget to the City Council not later than November 15.

Himebaugh's statement to the Mayor is as follows.

To the Honorable H. F. Avery, Mayor of the City of Colorado Springs, Colo.:

Dear Sir—As requested by you, I have tabulated the appropriations asked for by the several departments of the city, and herewith submit the same to you for your consideration.

Department of Water and Waterworks—
Salaries for care of system	$19,740 00
Expense of commissioner's office	3 960 00
Repairs and new construction	20,050.00
Irrigation, operation and other	6,400.00
Interest on water bonds	64,945.00
Sinking fund	52,945.44
		$168,040.44
Department of Finance—
Expense of treasurer's office	$1 653 00
Expense of city clerk's office	3,870.00
Expense of city auditor's office	2,700.00
		8,223 00
Twenty-one other miscellaneous items "not belonging to any particular department for appropriation purposes," make a total of		48 975 00
Department of Public Safety—
Police department	$37,900 00
Fire department	44,700 00
		82 600 00
Department of Public Works and Property—
As per detailed statements		109,400.00
Department of Public Health and Sanitation—
Sewer department	$9 554 00
Health Department	18 874 00
Cemetery, gen. fund	12,800.00
Cemetery, endowed portion	1,350 00
		42 908 00
Park commission		$25 000 00
Interest on bonds		10,200 00
As follows.
Sewer bonds	$2,280 00
City hall bonds	6,720 00
Bridge and viaduct bonds	1 200 00
Total appropriations asked for		$405 346.44
Estimated revenues from all sources other than tax levy:
General revenues (as statement filed Oct 26, 1909)	$35,380 00
Cemetery endowment.	1 273 00
Earnings, water department	150,000.00
Park licenses	3 000 00
Palmer estate	6,500 00
Total		$196,785.00
Necessary to be raised by levy		$208 561 44

In looking over the total amount of appropriations estimated as required for the ensuing year, it would seem at first that the amount has increased over last year, but such is not the case. In nearly all of the five departments of the city the amount called for has been cut down. It takes $22,0000 more this year than last to provide for a sinking fund, and $6,600 more for salary of Mayor and Council. There is a loss to the city of about $17,000 in license revenues caused by the fact that no drug store licenses are issued. Then there is $5,500 to be raised to pay expenses of special legal counsel employed by former administrations. The above items alone make a change of $45,600 in the amount to be raised by taxation.

I have not made any changes in the amounts asked for by the several departments of the city, but have submitted to you the statement of the various commissioners as made to me. I shall be pleased to confer with you at any time and go with you over the several estimates made by the several departments, to see what reductions can be made without detracting from the efficiency of the various departments.

Respectfully submitted,
J. A. HIMEBAUGH,
Commissioner of Finance.
Nov. 1, 1909.

COTTON SOARING

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—In spite of enormous realizing sales, today's cotton market showed a strength that surprised bull leaders, and sent all deliveries to two high records for the season, with March selling at $15.10 and May at $15.11, the highest figures ever reached at this season since the Civil war.

GRAND JUNCTION ELECTS COMMISSIONERS TODAY

GRAND JUNCTION, Nov. 1.—In the first election under the new charter here tomorrow, five commissioners, to replace the present city council, will be elected from 16 candidates. Under the charter, the preferential voting system permits each voter to register his first, second and third choice for various officers.

ROOSEVELT TUNNEL FAST NEARING GOAL

At Present Rate Will Reach Main Water Course Eight Months Hence.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 1.—With water flowing from the portal of the Roosevelt tunnel at the rate of over 100 gallons a minute, and a flow of 1,175 gallons a minute from the El Paso tunnel, the breast of the former today was within approximately 3,250 feet from the main Beacon hill watercourse which it is aimed to tap.

These facts are brought out in the official report of Engineer T. R. Countryman, made today. According to the report, the tunnel was driven 330 feet in October, making its total length 11,400 feet and the length beyond the intermediate shaft, 3,425 feet. The tunnel heading is well into Beacon hill, and the extremely hard Pikes Peak granite is now being encountered. A record for 24 hours' work was made last month, 21 feet, 6 inches, being made in a single day.

At the present rate of progress, the tunnel will reach the main watercourse in approximately eight months.

ALFONSO ANGRY

Boy King of Spain Cannot Understand Protest Against Ferrer Killing.

PARIS, Nov. 1.—A special dispatch from Madrid to the Journal gives an interview with King Alfonso, who expressed himself bitterly on the Ferrer demonstrations abroad. He said he understood the attitude of the masses who were always ready to take sides with what they considered right.

"But," he continued, "why intellectual savants, who do not dare to announce a discovery before it is verified a hundred times by experiments should protest without inquiry against a judgment, conformable with laws they are ignorant of and against the guaranteed honor of Spanish soldiers, I cannot understand."

FRED LAKE RESIGNS

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—It was announced tonight that Fred Lake had resigned his position as manager of the Boston American league baseball team and that President John I. Taylor of the club is seeking a new manager. Manager Lake and President Taylor failed to agree on Lake's salary for next season.

PITTSBURG BANKER MAY GET 240 YEARS

PITTSBURG, Nov. 1.—A federal jury in the trial of David J. Richardson, former cashier of the now defunct Cosmopolitan National bank, late today brought in a verdict of guilty on 24 of the 26 counts in the indictment. Richardson was charged with misapplication of bank funds making false reports to the comptroller of the currency and making false entries in the bank books. Ten years on each of the 24 counts is the maximum sentence.

SAVE YOUR TEETH FROM THE SCOURGE OF PYORRHEA

Pyorrhea or Rigg's disease is the most dangerous and destructive of all the diseases of the teeth and mouth. It may be detected in the early stages by a slight soreness of the gums and tendency to bleed easily. As it becomes more advanced the gums become inflamed and sore, the teeth loosen and spread or move from their proper position and if allowed to continue will result in the loss of all the teeth. This disease is considered incurable by the majority of the dental profession. We are making a specialty of the treatment of this condition and have successfully treated a large number of cases, any of which we can give you as reference and furnish you with convincing evidence that we do permanently cure pyorrhea. If you have any of the symptoms we have described it is a dangerous condition, and you will lose your teeth unless they are properly treated. We are replacing missing teeth by the Maxillary Method and these are the most perfect artificial dentures made. Crowns, plates, dental bridgework, made by scientific methods that cannot be detected from the most perfect natural teeth. You cannot afford to lose your natural teeth, no matter what may be their present condition. We are saving teeth that are considered hopelessly decayed and diseased. Investigate our methods and let us explain our treatment to you. We are making a special offer for the month of November. Secure advantage of this by making your appointments now. HIMEBAUGH WANTS from $110 to $1,020 per year, and recommends reducing the salaries of the following employes: Treasurer from $2,000 to $1,500 per year, auditor from $150 to $125 per month and police magistrate from $125 to $65 per month. He explains his reasons in the accompanying statement, but a fight in the Council is likely over the proposed reductions, since the Council has refused to pass an ordinance reducing the salaries of the three officials in question.

On this point Commissioner Himebaugh says in his estimate:

Himebaugh Explains.

You will observe that there are several changes made which differ from those which were in effect before the adoption of the charter, and the reasons for making these changes are as follows:

When our new administration assumed charge under the charter, July 27 of this year, I was assigned to the department of finance, and on investigation I found that the city treasurer was receiving a salary of $2,000 per year, and that he had a deputy who was paid $960. I arranged with the treasurer before his appointment to that office to do all the work of the treasurer's office for a salary of $1,500 per year, thus dispensing with a deputy. He has done all the work of that office since August 1, but as the Council has not passed the salary ordinance he is still receiving his old salary of $166.66 per month. My estimate of his salary at $125 per month is based upon my belief that the Council will in the near future fix his salary at $1,500 per year.

I found the city auditor was drawing a salary of $1,500 per year, and that his deputy was receiving $960 per year. The auditor agreed to accept a salary of $1,200 per year, and in my estimate I have fixed his salary at this amount, but he is at present receiving a salary of $125 per month, owing to the fact that the Council has not passed a salary ordinance. In my judgment the deputy auditor should receive $85 per month, instead of $80, as is now provided by ordinance, and in my estimate I have placed his salary at $1,020 per year.

The salary of the police magistrate has been $65 per month for many years, and in my judgment his salary should be fixed at this amount, and in my estimate I have fixed it at such amount, although at the present time, by reason of the construction of the court under the charter, he is receiving $125 per month, and will continue to receive such salary until the Council by ordinance otherwise provide.

Would Raise City Attorney.

The next change which I have made in my estimate is that of city attorney. I have estimated his salary as $2,400 per year, which is $600 more than he is receiving at the present time. In my judgment the city attorney should receive a larger salary than he did under the former city government, for the reason that the work of his office has been vastly increased by reason of the fact that the Council now meets three times every week, instead of once in two weeks, as formerly, and it is necessary for him to be in attendance upon the Council at these meetings, and a great number of legal questions arise under the new charter which require investigation by the city's legal adviser, and in addition to this it is necessary for us to revise all of our ordinances in order to adapt them to conditions arising under the charter. This new work added to that of taking care of the city's interests in the many cases pending in the county, district and supreme courts, certainly justify the salary of $2,400 per year, and that he be allowed $30 per month for stenographic work, as heretofore.

Miscellaneous Appropriations.

I believe that no further explanation is needed in regard to the matters which fall properly within the department of finance, but I wish to make some explanation in regard to some of the items which fall under the designation of miscellaneous appropriations. Under this head I have provided for the salaries of the councilmen, and also $1,800 for the salary of the Mayor, as this part of his salary must be paid out of the general fund. Most of the items in the miscellaneous funds are for the same amount as was appropriated last year, but the amount asked and allowed to the public library has been increased $585 over last year. This additional amount seems to be necessary in order to make the public library efficient in meeting the growing needs of the city.

An Old Account.

In the matter of legal expenses there occurs the item of $5,500, which is due to McAllister & Gandy and Valle & Waterman, for services which they have rendered the city in connection with the water litigation of the city. This expense was contracted by a former administration and is now due and must be paid.

In the miscellaneous items there is an estimate of $6,500 for a public comfort station at or about the Federal building. There has been for a number of years past an urgent demand made by our citizens for public comfort stations, and it is wise, if we can do so, to provide for such stations.

Election Expenses.

In the miscellaneous items there is an estimate of $6,000 for election expenses. This estimate is made to meet any contingency which may arise under the charter for calling special elections. While we have no general city election that occurs during the ensuing fiscal year, the Council may be called upon at any time to order a special election to vote upon the adoption of ordinances, franchises, recalls, bonds and such matters, and if there is no appropriation the administration would be embarrassed in the event of a special election. It might be wise to leave this matter to be met by special emergency warrants and not provide for it in the general appropriation.

The amount which the Council will have to expend during the ensuing fiscal year for the printing of ordinances and the making of monthly statements and the other legal advertising required by the charter is an item of expense which can only be roughly estimated. The charter requires that every ordinance shall be printed twice and if there is a general revision of our ordinances this item alone will amount to a very considerable sum. I have furnished you estimates on these matters the best I can under the existing conditions.

I shall be pleased at any time to make any further explanation concerning any item or items or any matter connected with my department.

Respectfuly submitted,
J. A. HIMEBAUGH,
Commissioner of Finance.

MISS BRINLEY HEAD OF LOCAL Y. W. C. A.

sey; for two years, Mesdames Goddard, Strieby, Hager, Dodge, Slaughter, Farnsworth, De La Vergne, Carpenter; for three years, Mesdames Brooks, Chisholm, Williamson, Ensign, Taylor, Wiley, Miss Brinley and Miss Warren.

Treasurer's Report.

Mrs. Strieby, treasurer, reported as follows: Total receipts, $10,290.53, total expenditures, $7,207.91, balance, $3,082.62. Plus the balance November 1, 1908, of $512.10, the total balance November 1, 1909, was $3,594.72. This is divided as follows: Building fund, $2,500, current expense fund, $1,094.72.

Mrs. Harriet P. Farnsworth, chairman of the finance committee reported that the home is practically self-supporting. The last year there has been a surplus which has been applied to the interest on the loan, etc. It is estimated that the expenses for the departments for the coming year will be $3,000. The income from classes, noon, rest, etc., will amount to $1,500. The campaign for funds for the new building will probably be started in the near future. Meetings of the finance committee are held the second Tuesday in the month at 10:30 a. m. in the association rooms in the DeGraff building.

Mrs. Hatch, chairman of the house committee, reported that all bills for the home are paid and there is $300 on hand. Mrs. Brooks, chairman of the educational committee, gave a report full of enthusiasm and interest. Mrs. Hager, chairman of the committee on rooms, reported them well furnished with what is required for the work. Mrs. Seldomridge, chairman of the travelers' aid committee, reported the valuable work of Miss Maybery and Miss Fisher through the summer. Mrs. Ensign, chairman of the religious committee, was unable to be present and her report was included with that of Miss Marguerite Dice, the general secretary.

Miss Dice went into detail concerning the work of the association during the last year and outlined plans for the future.

ACCURACY WILL MARK

enumerator be made one of honor, and that the men serve without pay, as is done in some European countries, a medal of honor being given to those who serve well and faithfully. Director Durand thinks that such an arrangement might be made at some future time, but that it would not be expedient under present conditions. He does hope, however, to get many men who will serve more because of interest in the work than for the compensation involved. He expects to make use of many of the crop reports, correspondents of the department of agriculture, many of the students of colleges and universities, and as many school teachers as he can get.

The population schedule will be carried by every one of the 65,000 people who will constitute the army of enumerators, but only 45,000 of them will carry the agricultural schedules. The statistics of mines and quarries and manufacturers will be taken by a corps of chief and assistant special agents, 2,000 strong. They will be the cavalry of the census army and their work may continue for 15 months.

Farm Inquiry Important.

It is realized that aside from the actual enumeration of the population the most important inquiry appertains to the farm. With all the progress America has made as a manufacturing nation, the fixed capital in manufacturing industries is less than half as much as that invested in agriculture. A special effort is to be made to secure accuracy in farm returns. To that end the director has caused to be issued a long statement, which he hopes will reach every farmer in the country, impressing upon the farmer the importance of keeping an accurate record of all his farm operations, sales, etc., for the calendar year 1909, that he may be ready for the enumerator. The director points out that while the department of agriculture has a wonderfully efficient corps of crop estimators and reporters, the industry is so vast and many of its elements and conditions so intangible to superficial observation, that all its figures would become practically valueless were they not regularly revised in the light of actual census returns. In the statement sent out to the farmers is an outline of the agricultural schedule, and each farmer is requested to make a note of each particular bit of information called for as soon as he gets it. This is an innovation which augurs well for the accuracy of the returns.

One inquiry which will have a peculiar interest this time when conservation is uppermost in so many minds, is that which relates to the number of acres of wooded and cleared land on the farms of the country. The farm operations will cover the calendar year 1909, while the stock on hand, practically an inventory of farm wealth, will be as of April 15, 1910.

There probably will be some women enumerators, more especially in those states where women have the right of suffrage. It is hardly probable, however, that the number of women enumerators will amount to as much as 1 per cent of the whole. In the Oklahoma census a few women were employed, and they made a good record for their sex. Of course, it is only the exceptional woman that stands any show of appointment, so that it is little wonder that those who were appointed made fine records.

Careful tab will be kept on every enumerator's work all the time he is in the field. He will be supplied with two cards for every day's work. Each night he will fill them out, forward one to the supervisor of his district, and the other to the census office in Washington. He must give a list of the places he has visited, the number of people he has enumerated—in short, a general history of his day's work. Each office will carefully check his cards, and if there is the slightest reason to suspect that he is not doing his work properly and exactly, he will be asked to explain. His final report must balance exactly with the sum of his daily reports.

Up to the census of 1880 it was required that all the returns of population be posted at some conspicuous place in the enumeration district, so that every person interested could make sure that there was no padding of lists and no omissions. Since that time the daily report system has been in vogue, and has largely served the same purpose, at the same time greatly reducing the expense of the work.

In the past there have been many attempts at padding the lists. In one census, a Mississippi enumerator, a negro, made the returns for all the farms in his district, and then duplicated these returns for every member of the family on each farm. This padding was for the sole purpose of increasing his own pay. Usually, padding has been more marked in the cities, and has been done more for the purpose of "boosting" population totals than anything else. In the 1890 census, two cities in a north central state undertook to pad their population returns. Each was watching the other. The one went at it in a coarse, crude way, and was soon caught in the act. The other handled the situation with a finer hand and might have escaped detection but for the watchfulness of the rival city. In one city there were several hundred people returned as permanent dwellers in the Union station. A prominent newspaper building was reported to have 65 permanent residents. When the census bureau decided upon a re-enumeration a committee was sent to Washington to protest against it. Among the members of the committee was the owner of the big newspaper building. When he had spoken at some length supporting the accuracy of the first returns, the record for his own building was produced. He was forced to join in the laugh that followed at his own expense.

It remained for a man under the very shadow of the dome of the national Capitol to devise the most unique way of padding his returns at the last census. He was a Maryland enumerator, and he visited the cemeteries in his district and returned the names on the tombstones. But he was not able to cover up his tracks and was very soon overtaken by the lynx-eyed census office detectives.

Bitter disappointment is in store for many cities next year. For instance, Los Angeles and Seattle are each determined to be written down by the thirteenth census as the second city on the Pacific coast, and they have been booming themselves for all they are worth. Their race is only one of dozens that are now going on. Buffalo is working hard to advance, and Houston and San Antonio are having a great race for primacy in Texas. It is the common experience of census authorities that when the showdown comes very few cities are able to live up to their claims of population. Some of them, however, recognizing the danger of exaggerated claims, have stopped setting their figures above the census mark.

It is estimated that the actual cost of enumeration or gathering the data will be in the neighborhood of $4,000,000. At the least census the average pay for each enumerator was about $60. It is expected that fully 90 per cent of this will be paid out within three months of the date of beginning the enumeration. As stated before, the returns of manufacturing, mining and quarrying will be secured by special agents. These men will be appointed because of their especial fitness for the work, and there will be several assistants under each chief special agent. It is hoped that a highly competent corps of agents equipped with simplified schedules, will make this census of manufactures a notable one.

If the country continues to grow in the next 20 years as it has grown in the past double decade, the fifteenth census will require an army of men as large as Grant commanded at Appomattox to carry out the work. At least $20,000,000 will be required to execute the task. Some experts think that the census will soon become such an extensive thing as to topple over of its own weight, but the majority of those who have followed the development of census taking from the beginning to the present, unhesitatingly declare that every recurring period produces more accurate returns and drives the business of census-taking nearer to the hoped-for goal of an exact science.

Tomorrow—The Thirteenth Census. III—Tabulating the Returns.

AWAY GOES INDIGESTION, STOMACH GAS, HEARTBURN AND ALL MISERY

Take a Little Diapepsin Now and Your Stomach Will Feel Fine Five Minutes Later.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of Indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep some Diapepsin in the house handy?

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and overcome a sour, gassy Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why it makes Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heartburn and other distress go in five minutes and relieves at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion and Dyspepsia or an out-of-order stomach with the common every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This, no doubt, is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach poison, which putrefy in the digestive tract and intestines, and besides poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

TREATMENT RATE IS CUT

United States Reduction and Refining Company Meets Golden Cycle Price on Low Grade.

The United States Reduction and Refining company has announced a cut of 50 cents per ton, effective yesterday, on the treatment of ore worth $10 per ton and less. This meets the rate of $4 in effect by the Golden Cycle Mining company, operating the mill of the same name in West Colorado Springs, and embraces all charges for both shipment and treatment.

The United States Reduction and Refining company owns the Standard and Colorado-Philadelphia mills in Colorado City, together with other plants in this state.

The reduction is expected to stimulate low grade mining throughout the Cripple Creek district.

CAUGHT IN KANSAS CITY

G. Donahue Will Be Brought Here to Answer Charge of Stealing Woman's Ring.

G. Donahue, who is wanted in this city on the charge of stealing a diamond ring, valued at $110, from Mrs. Mattie Ascough, was arrested in Kansas City, Mo., yesterday, according to information received here by the sheriff's office, and will be brought back to Colorado Springs. He will be tried in Justice A. P. Toombs' court, where Mrs. Ascough swore out a warrant against him about two weeks ago.

Donahue, it is claimed, put Mrs. Ascough's ring on his finger and neglected to return it. The ring was later found in a pawnshop, where Donahue is understood to have borrowed $40 on it.

BARTHOLOMEW CAN GO HOME FOR LUNCH

COUNCIL GRANTS TREASURER THIS RIGHT.

Lawyers Declare, However, That He May Have to Carry His Grub to City Hall.

The City Council yesterday passed a resolution, introduced by Finance Commissioner J. A. Himebaugh, permitting City Treasurer F. A. Bartholomew to eat his lunch at home and to bank the city's money.

The action was not so foolish as may appear on the surface, since the Council recently passed an ordinance compelling all city offices to remain open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., Sundays and holidays excepted, and inasmuch as Treasurer Bartholomew has no assistant in his office, it was a case of either eating lunch among the municipal money bags or violating the ordinance, to say nothing of banking the daily receipts.

May Fail of Intent.

But even this thoughtfully-worded resolution may fail in its intent, and the joke may be on the City Council, according to well-informed lawyers, who point out that a resolution cannot legally set aside an ordinance, or any part thereof.

"It takes a thief to catch a thief," said a prominent attorney, "and it takes an ordinance to nullify an ordinance."

On recommendation of Fire Chief F. D. McCartin, the Council ordered the fire engine sent to Cincinnati, O., where it will be repaired at a cost of between $1,500 and $2,000. McCartin urged the commissioners to pick out strong, husky men for the fire department, and recommended a physical examination of the firemen. Mayor Avery then took occasion to inform the fire chief that it is his (Avery's) and Commissioner Whitaker's duty to select the firemen.

Too Many False Alarms.

In the general discussion of fire matters, Whitaker mentioned the numerous recent false alarms, and said that he intends to offer a reward for the arrest and conviction of offenders.

The Council referred to Commissioner Himebaugh a communication from the Civic club indorsing the proposed public comfort station.

The water department was authorized to purchase a team for $275.

Reports of the police chief and city clerk for October were referred to the proper commissioners.

The old, old story, told times without number, and repeated over and over again for the last 36 years, but it is always a welcome story to those in search of health. There is nothing in the world that cures coughs and colds as quickly as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Sold by all dealers.

COMMISSIONERS REPAIR ROAD TO CONVICT CAMP

Captain C. H. Baldwin, who is in charge of the convict camp south of this city, where the prisoners are working on the new highway between Colorado Springs and Canon City, was here yesterday to purchase the monthly supplies. Between $500 and $600 per month is spent in this manner in Colorado Springs, according to the county commissioners.

The commissioners yesterday placed a force of men on the Canon City road, to repair it from Curr's reservoir to the convict camp at Dead Man's canon, a distance of about 12 miles.

When a cold becomes settled in the system, it will take several days' treatment to cure it, and the best remedy to use is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will cure quicker than any other, and also leaves the system in a natural and healthy condition. Sold by all dealers.

MRS. MARIE BAYNES DIES; FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON

Mrs. Marie Baynes, wife of George H. Baynes of 713 South Tejon street, died yesterday morning. She is survived by her husband and a daughter, Mrs. Sprague, of this city. Funeral services will be held at the residence this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the Rev. Henry Rutgers Remsen, rector of Grace Episcopal church, officiating. The burial will be in Evergreen cemetery. Members of the G. A. R. are invited.

COLO. COLLEGE STUDENTS HELP FIGHT FOREST FIRE

Fire from an unknown cause burned considerable brush and timber in the foothills south of Colorado City, yesterday, and for a time threatened the government forest reserve, but the flames were extinguished before night.

The danger to the reserve was so imminent for a time that the Colorado College forestry class of 14 students were called out to aid the Cripple Creek Short Line employes in fighting the fire.

NO CASE ON RECORD.

There is no case on record of a cough or cold resulting in pneumonia or consumption after Foley's Honey and Tar has been taken, as it will stop your cough and break up your cold quickly. MOTORCYCLISTS MUST MAKE NUMBERS PLAIN

Motorcyclists must hereafter keep their license numbers in plain view, or risk being haled into court, according to Chief of Police Armstrong. Most of the numbers hang just below the seats and are hidden by the coattails of the riders.

If you desire a clear complexion take Foley's Orino Laxative for constipation and liver trouble as it will stimulate these organs and thoroughly cleanse your system, which is what everyone needs in order to feel well. Sold by all druggists.

Members Fraternal, Brotherhood, Attention—State Manager W. J. Hancock, accompanied by District Deputy E. O. Bray, will be in attendance at the meeting November 3. Every member is earnestly requested to be present.

PREFERS CHARGES AGAINST TAYLOR

LENNOX SAYS DEPUTY SHERIFF ABUSED PRISONER.

Case Will Be Submitted to Men who Recommended Officer for Appointment.

On charges brought by John Lennox of this city, the conduct of Deputy Sheriff A. O. Taylor toward a prisoner in the custody of a police officer, on the night of September 1, will be investigated as soon as Patrolman W. H. McDermott, the officer who had the prisoner in charge, recovers from his illness. He is in a Denver hospital. Lennox says that Taylor swore at the prisoner, a supposed drug fiend named Meservey; called him a vile name and struck him twice, knocking him down the second time. Taylor was out of town last night, but his friends deny that he struck Meservey. They say that the prisoner made a move as though to strike Taylor, who merely shoved him away, Meservey falling to the ground.

How It Happened.

The incident happened in the so-called Stockbridge alley, on East Huerfano street, and Lennox was an eyewitness. It appears that Meservey, who was following two men who he claimed had robbed him, bumped into Taylor in front of Robbins' clothing store, and kept on running. He stopped a short distance north, on Tejon street, and was arrested by Patrolman McDermott, because of his peculiar actions. He was taken to the Stockbridge alley and searched, but no weapons were found on him.

Lennox says that when he (Lennox) remonstrated with Patrolman McDermott for not protecting the prisoner with his billy or revolver, if necessary, McDermott asked: "How could I do so against a deputy sheriff?"

Meservey was placed in the county jail, and the next day was given a suspended fine for vagrancy.

Novel Settlement.

A novel settlement of the question has been arranged. As soon as McDermott returns from Denver, the evidence will be presented before the citizens who recommended Taylor's appointment, and final decision will be up to them, according to agreement. Officer Taylor says he will resign if he is found guilty of misconduct.

Mr. Lennox reported the case to Mayor Avery, as well as to Chief of Police Armstrong and Sheriff Birdsall.

Deputy Sheriff Taylor has held office for about one year, under Sheriff Birdsall. He was formerly employed at the Portland mill, and was recommended for appointment by prominent citizens of Colorado Springs. He has lived here for about 15 years, and has always borne a good reputation.

COL. GEARHART TO SPEAK

Will Address Mass Meeting at First Presbyterian Church, Next Sunday Afternoon.

Under the auspices of the Colorado Springs Y. M. C. A., a mass meeting will be held in the First Presbyterian church next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Colonel G. A. Gearhart of Buffalo, one of the best-known Star course lecturers in the west, will speak on "Civic Righteousness."

Colonel Gearhart is of the Wendell Phillips type of orator. He is cultured, a clear thinker and an excellent speaker. His lecture on "Civic Righteousness" has been the cause of much comment in the east, where it has been given frequently of late.

Special music will be furnished by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra. Men and women are invited.

Next Monday evening, the Boosters club of the Y. M. C. A. will meet at supper in the association building. The board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. will elect officers at this time.

Reserved seats for the Whitney Brothers Male quartet, which will appear as the second Star course attraction next Tuesday night, will be placed on sale Saturday morning.

Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs quickly, strengthens the lungs and expels colds. Get the genuine in a yellow package. Sold by all druggists.

Arthur Hubbard, formerly of Colorado Springs, now of Salt Lake City, is visiting his father, A. L. Hubbard, of the Standard Electric company. Mr. Hubbard, Jr., is manager of the Hubbard Publicity company and of the Pacific & Western Selling company.

What the Press Agents Say

THIS WEEK'S BILL AT POPULAR MAJESTIC A GRAND SHOW

No man, woman or child whose constitution is liable to suffer from a convulsion of laughter wants to attend the Majestic this week. And no person who is wise to the fact that laughter is better than all the doctors in christendom for most any kind of mental or physical ailment wants to fail to attend. All who have yet to learn what effect it has on them to laugh harder than they ever laughed before will find out when they see—and hear—"That Frenchman and the Other Fellow." All in that case is everybody, and if the shrieking, howling crowds at the Majestic yesterday afternoon and evening is a criterion, just about everybody in this immediate vicinity is going to see the aforesaid pair before the week is out

This is not a roseate dream. It is cold, hard fact. The sketch which winds up the new Majestic bill is absolutely the richest, most unpreariously, excruciatingly, almost painfully funny thing ever put on the boards. John J. Cain as "That Frenchman" is inimitable; William Mitchell, as "The Other Fellow," a corpulent Irishman, who exudes good nature from every pore, is a fun factory working overtime. The two of them are the quintessence of comedy. They had every audience yesterday in convulsions; people laughed until the tears streamed down their cheeks and their muscles ached. They wiped the tears away after the curtain fell; there wasn't enough time between laughs to do so before.

Mitchell and Cain could be counted on to rock the house all the rest of the week, but they are only the climactic feature of a program that is high quality and control. His rendition of this song yesterday held every audience hypnotized.

A fine orchestra program adds to a performance that is new proof that a new standard of quality has been set for the Majestic by Manager Tammen.

full of humor and heart throbs, of novelty and magnificent music, of cleverness and ginger. Les Ploetz Lorellas, three beautiful French girls, open with an acrobatic and contortion act which is a wonder. They appear to be constructed of rubber and their act is full of genuine novelties and amazing feats. A cake walk on their hands by all three performers makes a great hit.

Jere Sanford, monologue artist, singer, yodler and whistler, fulfilled expectations. He has a magnificent voice and his yodling and whistling are simply immense. His reception yesterday means that the theatergoers of this city love beautiful harmonies and know how to appreciate them. "The Prodigal Girl," presented by George Edward Murphy, Walt Whitman and Miss Florence Bates Horsfall, is an appealing little playlet in which comedy and pathos are effectively merged. It is one of the kind that bring a lump to the throat while the lips are smiling. Murphy, as Dick Gates, Democratic candidate for justice of the peace, is as good as the best.

As was predicted the Majestiscope picturez are great. They tell a thrilling story of love and war, the scene being laid in South Africa at the time of the Boer-British struggle. Some of the scenes are wonderfully striking, the interest holds to the very end when a beautifully happy ending relieves the tension.

Stacey and Burton, "the beaux ideals of Swelldom," present one of the most sensational acts now on the stage, the climax of which is the startling Burmah dance in which Miss Stacey appears barefooted. The striking music, the unusual evolutions and the elusive beauty of the dancer combine to produce an effect as hard to define as it is compelling. Another great feature of this number is Mr. Burton's dream song, in which he exhibits brilliant dramatic ability as well as a voice of

"A KNIGHT FOR A DAY."

The big musical novelty of the season, "A Knight for a Day," will be the attraction at the Opera House tomorrow evening. The latest electric feature in stageland play an important part throughout the entire evening. During the chorus song "Life Is a See-saw," fine electric swinging see saw are a novel effect that pleases, but the very latest and newest of all, and to be seen for the first time, is the mammoth "electric curtain," a most dazzling new invention that is raised and lowered by trick mechanism that seems to have almost reached the limit in electrical possibilities in this day of scientific achievement. The music of "A Knight for a Day" is the best that Raymond Hubbell has placed to his credit, and he already is quoted high in the musical comedy market. He has written a succession of songs and choruses, all of which will be whistled, and he has orchestrated them with a taste and neat fantasy which add to their effectiveness and give them a value above that possessed by those of the average musical comedy score, and all will soon know the widespread popularity that is enjoyed by catchy music of that variety.

"THE CAT AND THE FIDDLE."

The offering at the Opera House Monday evening is the newest success in the line of musical extravaganza, "The Cat and the Fiddle." Unlike most musical comedies, which are written in two acts, "The Cat and the Fiddle" has three acts and 19 gorgeous scenes, brimful of new ideas, novelties, surprises, illusions, transformations, chorus numbers, song hits, etc.

It tells an imaginative story of fairyland and the mystical Island of Eye, which, together with certain earth beings of our own, forms a clever plot upon which original fun and wit is founded.

There are magical Great Gobs and his consort, "Circe," a good fairy, Genii, and her wonderful gigantic cat; there are sprites, elfs, gnomes, and fairies among the immortals, while the earth beings include a witty tramp, a humorous Irishman, a funny Dutchman, the twin sisters, a boisterous sea captain and nifty lieutenant.

The musical numbers include "Rosey Dreams," a comedy duet, a conversation song and dance, "I've Never Been Introduced to You," by the "Poster Girls"; "Mother Goose's Fables by the Baby Dolls," "In the Shadow of an Old Date Tree," "The Almanac of 1822," "Under the Sea," "My Maid in the Moon" and several others, all said to be catchy and all written by Carleton Lee Colby.

Forty people are promised in the company, which is headed by Cheri—A. Bellon as the chief fun maker; the El More sisters, as the twins; Theresa Miller as "Circe," Florence Willis as the "Fairy," George E. Wakefield as the "Gigantic Great Gobs," and Johan Berthleson as the lieutenant.

LAST NIGHT'S SUCCESS AT FAIRYLAND THEATER.

"Bert Wiggins is an artist!"—that's what patrons told Manager Tracy as they left the theater last night. He is a comedy juggler of surprising skill, and all the time his witty monologue keeps your sides aching. This in addition to his big hit as a lightning cartoonist.

The Sharrocks came well up to the advertising accorded their startling feature act. They will mystify the wisest.

This excellent bill will be continued Wednesday night, including matinees, with an entire change Thursday.

The motion pictures are of the very latest creations.

"The Diver's Remorse," a very thrilling drama, is well acted throughout, and the photography is superb.

Then there comes a comedy entitled "The Widow." This picture is a guaranteed laugh producer. Another subject, entitled "Woman's Wit," shows how a woman can cope with a burglar.

Don't miss this excellent bill.

A RELIGIOUS AUTHOR'S STATEMENT.

Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy. For sale by all druggists.

TENANTS MOVE INTO NEW BANK BUILDING

Most of the tenants of the new Exchange National Bank building moved into their quarters yesterday, and the lack of confusion was a flattering commentary on the efficiency of the building committee for the way in which all details were arranged.

All day long moving vans hurried to and from the building, and by night practically everything in the numerous suites was in apple pie order. The building has a barber shop on the third floor, and a cigar stand near the entrance, and in every other way the building is up-to-date and convenient.

MAY NOT EXTEND MAINS

City Has no Funds for Increasing Water System—Council Disposes of Routine Work.

The refusal of the city of Colorado Springs to lay water mains into Arensdale, a new addition to Colorado City, and the fact that there remains but little of the fund appropriated for the water department to allow the city to build the extended system, will probably result in the city's being unable to extend the system to any of the precincts which are in need of the water. Mayor Avery of Colorado Springs, in a letter to the Colorado City Council, stated that Colorado City would have to extend its water system into Arensdale if it desired such an improvement. The Council, although not surprised at the action, was of the opinion that Colorado Springs should help do the work, but after a long discussion, it was thought best to postpone the matter for some time.

Alderman Kelley made a motion to compel all Colorado Springs plumbers to pay a license to do work in Colorado City. This was voted down, due to the fact that it was said that the competition would bring lower prices.

The reports of all the departments for the month were read, the physician's report showing but one case of typhoid fever and no contagious diseases. The street commissioner, who has had several teams at work attending to the repairs of the street, was allowed until the end of the week to carry on the work. The work is to be cut short owing to the fact that the funds are growing low. Building Inspector Stattler took the oath of office, and as soon as the bond has been transferred, will attend to his duties. The trouble over the transferring of the body of the child of H. J. Stoddy, formerly of Colorado City, from the lot which he had purchased to another one, was referred to the cemetery committee.

Civil Engineer Gaston was appointed to make a revised map of the city.

The entire board of aldermen was present, J. C. McCreery acting as secretary in the absence of Clerk I. A. Nichols.

SERIES OF LECTURES AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Baptist church has made arrangements for a series of lectures to be held during the winter. The first of the lectures will be given the first week in December, the others to follow at intervals of a month. The speakers will be Dr. Frank H. H. Roberts of Denver university; Dr. E. M. Stephenson of Denver; the Revs. Howard Agnew Johnston and James H. Franklin of Colorado Springs. The lectures will be held in the church and tickets will be on sale within a short time.

A reception will be given this evening at the Baptist church for Rev. and Mrs. Cress. Mr. Cress has just returned from an extended visit in the east. All members and friends are invited to be present.

The seniors of the High school entertained last night for the football team and the upper classmen. The hall was decorated in proper Halloween colors and figures, and the young people spent a pleasant evening.

The song service held Sunday evening at the Baptist church was an enjoyable affair. The history of the writers of the words and music was given, and the hour proved to be a very profitable one. These services will be held often in the future.

No clues whatever have been found to the robbers who got away with the $2,900 worth of stamps of the post-office, last Friday. A large safe was placed in the office yesterday, having been moved from the National Bank building. Inspector W. E. Cochrane has returned to Denver after conducting his investigations.

Guy Arterburn, son of the proprietor of the Seventh street livery barn, was thrown from a fractious horse Saturday night and received several bruises about the body and badly fractured his left hip. The injured boy was taken in charge by Dr. Vinyard, and the injuries given attention. The fracture of the hip is a serious one, and it will be two months before the boy will be able to be about.

It's a Mighty Truth but as Old as Business

That real economy in clothes-buying is striking the right average in price.

The penny-wise purchaser who puts price above everything else—to whom the dollar in hand means more than the clothes on his back—he goes wrong every time.

He buys at the lowest price and the value is always less than the price is low.

Other men forget economy entirely. They forget that after a certain price is reached additional money is simply paid for the fictitious value of the tailor's name and standing.

We offer in the new garments we are showing direct from the truest economy in quality clothes. The prices range from $15.00 to $25.00 or $30.00.

The House of Kuppenheimer

And every dollar that you pay for these Kuppenheimer clothes brings back an actual value in return—a value based on real style, rich worth of fabric, specialized tailoring and expert finish.

Let us show you the clothes and prove this economy for yourself.

CIVIL DOCKET IS SET

Judge J. W. Sheafor of the District Court Sets Large Number of Cases for Trial

Following is the civil docket for the November term of the district court, as set by Judge J. W. Sheafor yesterday:

December 30—William D. Hofins vs. Theodosia E. Jones; Mrs. Nettie Austin vs. Colorado Springs and Interurban railway.

January 4, 1910—J. G. Hollingsworth vs. Edward R. Tufts.

A supplemental answer and cross-complaint was filed by the defendant in the district court, yesterday, in the divorce suit of Cecilia Hayes vs. Robert D. Hayes. Judge J. W. Sheafor also granted the wife $25 per month temporary alimony. The plaintiff, who is only 24 years old, charges her 60-year-old husband with cruelty. They were married in Carmel, Ill., five years ago.

MYSTERIOUS ROBBERY.

DENVER, Nov. 1.—It became known today that Denver police were working on a mysterious robbery, which occurred several nights ago, when mining stocks and other securities worth $15,000 were stolen from Henry Jagels, a mining man. The theft was committed by two men and a woman, and one theory is the trio followed Jagels here from Nevada. They entered Jagel's residence when he and his wife were away. Jagels will not discuss the robbery further than to say the papers stolen were valuable.

450 ENDANGERED BY FLOOD IN COAL MINE

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The Tarent coal pit at Ystalyfera, Glamorganshire Wales, was flooded today. Four men were drowned, while 449 others escaped or were rescued.

GRAFTER SLEUTH SYSTEM LANDS CUSTOMS WEIGHER

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Joseph Donnellon an assistant customs weigher was arrested today charged with defrauding the government by underweighing sugar. The complaint alleges that Donnellon admitted a cargo of sugar from Java at less than the actual weight. He was held in $2,500 bail for examination.

Orrine Does Cure DRUNKENNESS

This is a positive fact known to tens of thousands of wives and mothers of this land. They know Orrine is a reliable remedy for the cure of drunkenness, because it has restored their loved ones to lives of sobriety and usefulness. Every one of these women bought Orrine with full confidence that it would effect a cure or their money would be refunded to them if it failed. This guarantee is in each box. No other remedy for the cure of drunkenness is sold with this liberal guarantee, but Orrine has been so uniformly successful that the makers want the buyers to know that they have full protection if it should fail in any instance. We never publish letters of patients, but recently this letter came to us from Dr. Nolte, 8th and Race Sts., Philadelphia, Pa. Read it and you will appreciate why Orrine is so well thought of.

"I have had a remarkable case of inebriacy under my personal observation. The patient drank heavily for fifteen years and reached a degraded condition, which caused the breaking up of his family and separation from his wife. Every hope was given up of ever saving the man from his strong desire for drink, and only a mother's interest finally persuaded him to voluntarily take treatment for his diseased condition. It was my pleasure to recommend Orrine, your liquor habit cure, and the treatment was taken faithfully. This was two years ago and the patient is now in a healthy condition and still abstains from the use of stimulants. I have sold Orrine for a number of years and have always found it to be satisfactory. I believe you have an exceptionally good treatment for this disease."

Orrine is prepared in two forms. No. 1, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink. Orrine No. 2, in pill form, is for those who wish to cure themselves. Orrine costs only $1 a box. The guarantee is in each box. Write for Free Orrine Booklet (mailed in plain sealed envelope) to Orrine Co., 419 Orrine Building, Washington, D. C. Orrine is for sale in this city by the D. Y. Butcher Drug Co., Cor. Pikes Peak and Nevada Aves.

They know Orine is a reliable and efficacious remedy for drunkenness and they will not offer you a substitute.

QUADRUPLE MURDER

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 1.—The charred bodies of four members of the family of George Hood, an aged white man, were found today in the ruins of the Hood house, at Narper. The house was destroyed by fire last night for the purpose, the police believe, of covering a quadruple murder. Robbery is believed to have been the motive.

YEOMEN LEAD BALL LEAGUE

The Yeomen defeated the South Ends last night, 20 to, 8, and continue to lead the Indoor Baseball league. Huber and Strang formed the Yeomen battery, and Fowler and Fitzpatrick were the battery for the South Ends.

The standing of the teams follows.

	Won.	Lost.	Pct
Yeomen	7	0	1.000
Golden Cycle	3	1	.750
Robbins	1	3	.250
South Ends	0	4	.000

Weak Hearts

"I was terribly afflicted with my heart. At times it seemed to miss every other beat. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy until my trouble was all gone—it has never returned." R. R. PENN, Springville, Iowa.

One person in every four has a weak heart. Some are born weak, some become weak from disease, others by overexertion. If you have palpitation, fluttering, irregular pulse, short breath, oppressed feeling in chest, smothering or faint spells, you may know your heart is weak. There is nothing better for a weak heart than

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

It has brought relief to thousands, it should to you, even in cases of long standing.

The first bottle will benefit; if not, your druggist will return your money.

Speaking of Nickels

And November, here is a unique proposition in quality values.

Step to your newsdealer with a nickel and buy a November number of THE LADIES' WORLD.

Of course you know about THE LADIES' WORLD but have you ever realized how really great it is as a home magazine?

Take your November LADIES' WORLD home and study it from every side.

Then try to think of some other magazine at twice the price that gives as much real interest value to you.

You will read the story of the beloved Henry Ward Beecher.

"Worth the price of the magazine," you will say.

You will become absorbed in Charles G. D. Robert's fine serial beginning in this issue.

"That's worth the price, too."

You will find an article on the health of children that will be a surprise to you and a great help.

The article on dressmaking, that bears particularly on the coming winter's needs, you will find peculiarly pertinent.

"Each worth the price," you will repeat.

And so from cover to cover you will find the quality—the class that you generally expect to pay two or three nickels for.

It is pleasant to make a discovery like that, isn't it?

Three million readers have discovered it already and now they "don't keep house without THE LADIES' WORLD."

The November number is looking at you from the news-stand now. Perhaps you prefer to study it for a year—fifty cents to

THE LADIES' WORLD
NEW YORK

P. S. The price—five cents—is a matter of pride with the publishers.

THE TUBERCULOSIS EXHIBIT.

FOR eight days, beginning today, Colorado Springs will have an opportunity to learn many things concerning tuberculosis that it has never known before In this city, where the great white plague is a matter of personal concern to probably a majority of the population, it might be supposed that everybody possessed at least a superficial knowledge of its every aspect, but we believe that after inspecting the exhibit in the Durkee Building most people will admit that their previous knowledge of the subject was far too meager.

But the promoters of this exhibit are less desirous of disseminating new information about tuberculosis than they are of hammering home some of the older, but too often neglected, truths. For instance, everybody knows that tuberculosis is a preventable and curable disease, but how many are there who, in their daily lives, act on the real meaning of this truth? Tuberculosis can be prevented if its victims will observe proper sanitary precautions and thus show to others the consideration which, had it been extended to them, would have saved their own health. But the disease never can be prevented so long as promiscuous spitting, the use of public drinking cups, and like means of communication, are tolerated.

Again, the cure of tuberculosis is dependent entirely on rigid adherence to a regimen which has been worked out by the best scientific authorities, tested and found good The consumptive who is willing to order his daily life according to this plan has all the chances of recovery in his favor, unless he neglects the disease until it reaches an advanced stage. There was a time, and it was so recent that all of us can remember it—when tuberculosis was regarded as incurable, but although its death rate is now almost, if not quite, as high as ever, it nevertheless has been robbed of its greatest terror—the element of hopelessness. Its present high death rate is due mostly to improper knowledge of its causes, prevention and methods of cure among the class of people who suffer from it most—the poor of the great cities and this lack of knowledge is due, in turn, to the impossibility of completely educating the public in so short a time.

VALUE OF THE CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION.

But thanks to the splendid generosity of certain wealthy philanthropists, accurate knowledge of this subject is being widely disseminated by means of such exhibits as the one to be shown in Colorado Springs during the next eight days. This, and similar exhibits, are taken from city to city and displayed free to the public. With the assistance of local workers full publicity is secured, illustrated lectures are given, and every means is adopted to secure the fullest interest and co-operation of all classes

For many months the newspapers and magazines have been carrying on an educational work of tremendous value, but considering the number of people reached by these traveling exhibits an even more important work is thereby accomplished, for the exhibits make plain to every beholder a great many facts concerning tuberculosis which would not receive the attention they deserve when set forth in print.

A committee of fifteen Colorado Springs citizens are giving their time and energy to promote this work, and in like disinterested manner other citizens have contributed printing, advertising, exhibition space, and other necessities The local committee is to be a permanent organization and intends later to obtain sufficient funds by subscription to carry on a useful work in combating tuberculosis. The exhibit which is to be opened to the public today in the Durkee Building is the first step in this program, and we hope that it will be visited by every resident of the three cities, not only for the benefit they will receive but to arouse a greater interest in the work yet to be done.

FOOTBALL AND ITS DANGERS.

THE death of Cadet Eugene A. Byrne, of the West Point Naval Academy, as the result of injuries received Saturday in the annual game between West Point and Harvard is regrettable not alone because it brought to an untimely end the career of a young man of promise, but because it is another indictment against football. Following the announcement of young Byrne's death came a half dozen reports from various parts of the country of the death or injury of other young men and boys from like causes. In addition it was announced that no more football will be played at West Point this year

One of the direct results of Byrne's death, will be a revival of the strong opposition to a game which is second in interest in this country only to baseball And in the resultant discussion one may expect to find the extremists taking the lead—those who see nothing but evil in the game and those who so thoroughly believe in its benefits that they are blind to its dangers The probability of such a discussion, however, is not altogether to be deplored for though it may become tiresome its natural effect will be to inspire the makers of football rules to greater efforts in weeding out the bad and retaining only the good.

HASTY JUDGMENT ILL-ADVISED.

Much has already been accomplished in the last few years toward making the game cleaner and less dangerous, but obviously there is much yet to be done. In the meantime hasty conclusions are ill-advised. Never a summer passes that one or more baseball players are not seriously injured or killed while at play, but in spite of the inevitable, one seldom hears anything derogatory to this greatest American sport. On the other hand, every time a football player is killed a storm of protest against the game is heard from coast to coast. We do not mean to compare the two games. Indeed comparisons would be so farfetched as to be ineffective because the games are so dissimilar, they are alike only in so far as they are outdoor sports. Baseball occupies a place in the public fancy that football, as it is played today, never will attain However, there is no more reason for condemning football because of an occasional death resulting from the game than there is for condemning baseball for the same cause.

Football, like baseball, has its benefits, though its detrimental features are admittedly more pronounced. Such incidents as are referred to in the foregoing should force the rules committee to renewed efforts toward making the game less hazardous. Much has already been accomplished along this line by the so-called open style of play, and just so long as the game is being improved from year to year and those who make the rules under which it is played are honestly striving to eliminate the objectionable features, it is well to be temperate in judgment. Football seems to be a fixed institution in American college life and this certainly would not be the case if it were a game whose merits were outnumbered by its harmful features

LLOYD-GEORGE ON TAXATION.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

For the benefit of Mr. Richardson who writes in Friday's Open Parliament under the caption, "English Taxation," will you kindly publish the following excerpts from the Newcastle speech by Lloyd-George, recently made in England?

What is the chief charge against the budget by its opponents? That it is an attack on industry and an attack on property. I am going to demonstrate to you that it is neither (cheers.) It is very remarkable that since this attack on industry was first promulgated in the house of commons trade has improved. Only one stock has gone down badly. There has been a great slump in dukes. That is the only property that has gone down badly in the market. All the rest has improved. The chief objection of the great landlords to this budget lies in the fact that it has got valuation proposals. (Hear, hear.) Why do they object to valuation? I will tell you why. It goes to the very root of all things, the land question. (Hear, hear.)' There has never been a public undertaking in this country, municipal, state or industrial; there has never been an enterprise, a commercial one, but what the landlord has secured anything from four to forty times as much for the value of the land as its agricultural price. And when I come along and say, "Here, gentlemen, you have escaped long enough" (Cheers.) "It is your turn now," they say to me. "You are a thief."

Landlords have no nationality. Their characteristics are cosmopolitan. (Laughter) This case was given me the other day from Yorkshire of all places in the world, as it illustrates practically every tax which I propose in my budget. If you can stand it I will tell you the story. (Cries of "go on"), and as I have it on the authority of the managing director of the concern—well, he is responsible. It is the story of a district in Yorkshire, which four or five years ago was purely agricultural, really agricultural, receiving half its rates as agricultural land from your taxes and mine. (Hear, hear.) There was not a village within four miles of it, not an industry, not a factory, not a coal mine, and some very enterprising mining investors came along and said: "We think there's coal here." They went to the landlord and said: "Will you allow us to dig for coal here?" and he said, "For a consideration, of course, quite a trifle, I will only charge you six pence a ton on all the coal that comes up." (Laughter.) They said, "What about the surface?" "Oh, certainly, I will sell you any surface land you want for the purpose for a consideration." "Well, what do you want?" they said. You are receiving now 15s 6d an acre. What will you want from us?" "Well," he said, "four pounds an acre."

Quite moderate, and I am not holding him up to pillory him. This landlord is really a most moderate landlord. They said to him, "We must bring workmen here, and as there are no cottages, we shall have to build them, and we propose to build a model village," said these mining investors. And they have built one of the most beautiful model villages in the kingdom. (Hear, hear), and they said, "Will you allow us to build a few cottages?" "Certainly," he said, "I shall want a small return (laughter), 6 or 10 pounds an acre." A most moderate landlord. The land was 15s 6d an acre and he charge 10 pounds. Well, that is only 18 times the value of the land. The mining investors started. They spent half a million without knowing what would happen. It was a real speculation, a real risk. They took it on, discovered the coal and the LANDOWNER is getting royalties now at the rate of nearly 20,000 pounds per annum, without having expended a penny.

Now, where does my budget come in? (Laughter.) It comes in rather late, I admit. It ought to have come in in one of the earlier chapters, still it comes in soon enough to give the story a happy ending. (Laughter.) When the 20,000 royalty comes in—5 per cent for the first time will come to the state. (Hear, hear, and a voice, "too little.") The land outside, which is nominally agricultural land, but which is now valuable building land, will pay a half penny in the pound. When it is sold we get 20 per cent on the increase and when the landlord passes away to another sphere we shall then get the dead rent—(loud laughter) 20 per cent on the increase. More than that. When these cottages fall in and his heir comes and walks in for the whole of this beautiful model village the state will then, under this budget, say, "Very well, if you really must take ALL that property, I think we had better get a toll of 10 per cent off it" We have got another little provision. He has only leased one seam of coal. They have discovered four seams. Some day the other three seams will be leased. And then—the 5 per cent only applies to existing collieries, but we have got a special provision for future collieries we shall then ask him not 5 per cent, but 20 per cent of the royalty (Loud cheers)

Where is the injustice there? (Cries of "none") I agree with you I have been listening to criticism for five months, and they could not point out a single injustice in it, they simply scolded at large. We are going to send the bill up—all the taxes or none (Prolonged cheers) What will the lords do? If they throw it out they will force a revolution. If they begin, issues will be raised that they little dream of The question will be asked why 500 men, ordinary men, chosen accidentally from among the unemployed (laughter) should override the deliberate judgment of millions of people who are engaged in the industry which makes the wealth of this country That is one question Another will be who ordained that a few should have the land of Britain as a perquisite; who made 10,000 people owners of the soil and the rest of us trespassers in the land of our birth" (Cheers)

SENATOR M'CARREN.

From the New York Evening Post

The death of Senator McCarren adds another sensational feature to what was expected to be an uneventful campaign A minister of bold figure has gone upon his leadership was never really shaken in his lifetime and the courage with which he faced the surgeon's knife and the mournful nature of his end will endear him still further to those followers who served him through good and evil report.

Discussion of the real moral of Senator McCarren's career will be wide No one can fail to realize that by his death there passes from the scene one of the most influential men in New York city in shaping its future government Historians may wonder that this could be possible, but it is none the less a fact. It is to be hoped, indeed it may confidently be believed, that Mr. McCarren was one of the last of his type- the politician who, aside from native shrewdness and ability, owes his influence to corrupt corporations, of which he was the willing, the open, and the unscrupulous agent.

THE FUTURE OF HEARST.

From the Springfield Republican.

Those who dare to predict that Mr Hearst will finally land in the Republican party and be as respectable as anybody are not so reckless as might be supposed.

MATT HENSON.

Buy your season tickets early, have your seats reserved in time, for Matt Henson's swine to lecture, and a ticket costs a dime Mistah Henson went with Peary to the dismal Arctic ground, and assisted him in yelling when the good old Pole was found! Henson claimed he yelled the loudest—Peary's throat was on the bum and he has a right to lecture till the bossies homeward come. Everyone who had connection with the finding of the pole, ought to take the lecture platform with a cheerful rigmarole. We are pining for a lecture from the famed Ah-took-a-shoo, who's been talking to reporters on the porch of his igloo; and the walrus that he wounded when he followed Dr. Cook, ought to come this way and lecture, or at least bring out a book. And the dogs that hauled the sledges ought to come and bark a while, and the polar bears will lecture, if they wish to be in style; and there'll be no end of twaddle or of elocution junk, and I'm tired of Arctic regions, and the polar graft is punk.

The Daily Chit-Chat

The man or woman with judgment—that's the man or woman at a premium in the industrial market today

A certain newspaper woman once came to me in great perplexity.

She had been sent by a London paper across the ocean and half way across the continent to get a certain story.

A very puzzling question had arisen as to just how the assignment should be covered.

"What's the best thing to do?" said the woman.

"Why on earth don't you cable the managing editor for instructions?" I asked.

"That," said the newspaper women, "is just what I will not do. "Oh, yes, I know he'd settle the question all right and the burden would be off my mind, but the next time he had an important assignment like this he'd say 'I guess this time I'll send someone who has judgment enough to do his own deciding and won't be bothering me all the time.'"

That's the kind of men other employers besides that one want.

To really get somewhere in the business world it isn't enough merely to do routine work well—or even excellently.

The expert stenographer, the accurate bookkeeper can usually find positions, but if they have no other abilities besides that of doing routine work, they will never get very high salaries. There are too many others who can do the same thing.

The clerk who rises is the clerk upon whom his employer can shift some of his responsibilities, whom he can trust with some of the decisions.

A prominent woman wanted a private secretary recently.

She applied to an agency and they sent her a girl who proved very satisfactory.

Later I happened to hear someone asking the manager of the agency why he did not send another girl. "Why, Miss A. is a much better typist than the girl you sent, and you know she is the fastest stenographer in the state."

"I know," said the manager, "but this is a position that requires more than mere mechanical ability. This girl has to open hundreds of letters every day, answer some herself, and select those that her employer will want to see.

"I happen to know that though your friend is a splendid stenographer and typist she is the kind who will run to her employer for every decision. And this woman's time is too valuable for that."

"I don't care how hard I have to work, but I do hate responsibility," I heard a woman say the other day.

That means she will never be a very big financial success.

If you want money learn to take responsibility—the two go hand in hand in more senses than one.

Cultivate your judgment.

Learn to believe in your own decisions.

Surprise your employer by taking some of his lesser responsibilities off his shoulders and leaving him a chance for the bigger things, and maybe he will surprise you by raising your salary.

Sausage In cooking sausages, first prick them well, place in the frying pan and half cover with warm water. Heat quickly and boil, so that by the time the water evaporates the meat is tender, then the heat is increased and the links turned until they are evenly browned. An especially toothsome way of serving is to have ready some good tomato sauce. When the sausages are browned pour this around them and draw to one side, and cover for ten or fifteen minutes' simmering

English Muffins Scald one pint of milk and dissolve in it one tablespoonful of butter and one scant teaspoonful of salt When lukewarm and one-half of a cake of compressed yeast dissolved in one-quarter of a cupful of warm water, then stir in sufficient sifted flour to make a thick drop batter. Beat hard for five minutes, cover closely and stand in a warm place to rise. When light grease some muffin rings and place them on a hot greased griddle Stir down the batter and half fill the rings At first draw the griddle a little to one side until the batter rises almost to the top of the rings then draw forward When the muffins are brown on one side turn them over slip off the rings and brown again. Pull apart lay a piece of butter in each, close them, pile on a hot plate and send to the table For a second service the should be toasted.

If it's a question of fashion most men will say, leave it to King Edward—if it's a question of hat fashion King Edward will say leave it to Henry Heath.

POSTOFFICE ROBBERS MAY BE IN TOILS

TWO SUSPECTS ARRESTED IN CHICAGO.

Miss Grace Corporan, Clerk in Office, May Try to Identify Them.

Two men are under arrest in Chicago on suspicion of having robbed the Colorado City postoffice of $2,400 in stamps, last Thursday night, according to advices received here last night, and will probably be brought here for identification.

Miss Grace Corporan, a clerk in the postoffice, says that on the afternoon of the night of the robbery, two men, a short and a tall one, entered the postoffice. One asked for mail at the general delivery window and was told that there was none for him. The other asked Miss Corporan whether a certain small town in Michigan had a money order office. This is thought to have been done to make the clerk refer to a book in the rear of the inner office, or when she suddenly looked up from the book containing a list of money order offices, she saw the stranger's head sticking through the window, his eyes taking in all the details of the room. He suddenly withdrew his head when he found Miss Corporan looking at him.

The young lady says that the actions of the two strangers were so peculiar that she took particular note of them, and would easily recognize them again.

The matter is in the hands of federal inspectors of Denver and Chicago, who will probably bring the suspects to Colorado City for identification.

RIGID ORTHODOXY FATAL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Orthodoxy so uncompromisingly that it prevailed even over the instincts of self-preservation caused the death today in the Ellis Island hospital of Gisella Bleiner, a young Jewish immigrant. On the nine days of her voyage across the Atlantic the girl could get no "kosher" food. She fasted with the result today that she died of inanition.

Do You think

Van Briggle Pottery is made as well now as it was several years ago? It is a question we often hear. We think that every kiln produced shows an improvement over the one before. You may say we are prejudiced. We may well be for a discriminating public confirms our opinion. Since we took the agency for Van Briggle Pottery just one year ago our sales have shown a large monthly increase over former Van Briggle agencies. We expect this December to sell twice as many Van Briggle Christmas gifts as we did last year. The time to select yours is now.

PEARY INDORSED AS DISCOVERER OF POLE

AMERICAN GEOGRAPHERS ARE THE JUDGES.

Data and Examination Satisfy the Scientists First Lecture on Trip November 12.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Commander Robert E. Peary practically was indorsed a discoverer of the pole by the National Geographic society today.

Everything indicates that Peary's personal statement before the subcommittee of the society today convinced its members that he had set foot on the top of the world. The explorer has been invited to deliver the first of his public lectures before the society here on November 12, and it was pointed out tonight that, had the proofs been open to the slightest question, he never would have been asked to appear.

It was announced at the home of Rear Admiral C. H. Chester, retired, that a public statement of the findings of the society probably would be forthcoming Wednesday. This rapidity in determining the genuineness of Peary's claim is taken to mean that there is no difference among the three experts who are delving into his arctic data

Peary declined positively to discuss testimony he gave before the committee, but it was evident from his manner that the explorer was satisfied what the verdict would be.

For more than two hours, members of the subcommittee interrogated and cross-examined him They already had made a close study of his data.

PITCHER HARRY OLMSTEAD OF THE WHITE SOX

One of the pitchers to be tried out in the big leagues this spring is Harry Olmstead, bought by Chicago from Minneapolis The Miller town fans are blaming Comiskey for the loss of the A A. pennant because of the taking of Olmstead. The deal was not to Cantillon's liking and he made this known to Comiskey, but on an appeal to the national commission the player was awarded to the Chicago American league team The loss of Olmstead was felt, for Minneapolis dropped down in the A A race Olmstead pitched some good ball for the Sox and on his third trial in big league company ought to make good.

STEEL BUILDINGS AT GOLDEN CYCLE MINE

Improvements Completed Today and Operations Will Be Resumed Shortly.

Special to The Gazette.

VICTOR, Colo., Nov. 1.—The Golden Cycle mine on Bull hill, one of the big gold producers of the district, is to be started up again in a few days, with heavy shipments going from that property.

The mine was closed down for repair and improvement work, which will be completed tomorrow. Large steel structures have taken the places of the old surface buildings. Steel headings have been put in and a massive steel gallows frame installed.

The mine was outputting on an average of 275 tons a day before the suspension of operations and the same tonnage will be made upon the starting up of the big property. Several large bodies of ore are exposed in the Cycle and work will be done in all sections of the mine.

Although both high and low-grade mineral is opened up, the monthly average of the ore shipped shows values of $22 a ton.

EL PASO LESSEE HAS FABULOUSLY RICH ORE

John Jones Gets Assays of $7 a Pound From a Narrow Streak.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 1.—Ore of a high grade has been opened up by John Jones, lessee, operating on block 17 of the El Paso property on Beacon hill. The rich stuff is exposed in a seam one inch wide which shows values as high as $7 a pound. The vein carrying the high grade is three feet in width, and on either side of the seam gives returns of from two to four ounces gold to the ton.

Two other strikes are reported to have been made on El Paso ground during the past week, and one of them, it is understood, was on a block adjoining the section leased to Jones. It is said that both discoveries were of smelting grade ore and that the lessees making the strikes today began shipping three-ounce mineral.

STOCK TRADING DULL AND INTEREST LANGUID

Plan of Pennsylvania Directors for Stock Issue Affects Market Adversely.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Operations in stocks today were of an exceedingly desultory character, and the interest in the market was very languid. The one day of business intervening before the holiday had a deterrent effect on the traders, and there was no participation in the market. The observance of All Saints holiday in London and Paris today subtracted materially from the volume of the day's business.

The Bank of England secured $3,200,000 of South African gold, arriving in the London market, without competition and at a further recession in the price, which wipes out, in effect, the recent premium over the obligatory price to be paid by the bank which has prevailed while other centers were competing for London gold supply. This was looked upon as gratifying evidence of the satisfactory progress of recuperation in the Bank of England's condition, which was insisted upon by the board of governors.

The effect was helpful to the New York stock market, notwithstanding the absence of direct operations in the local stock market on behalf of London. There was a striking diversion of speculative effort to low-priced industrial stocks and specialties, while the more prominent trading stocks were neglected. The minor members of the steel group, especially the railroad equipment stocks, were conspicuous. The influx of new orders for equipment from the railroads was partly responsible for this movement, which was based also on the smaller proportion of the advance hitherto made in these stocks compared with the premier steel stock.

Something was made of the reports of large sales of copper metal in the last few days, but the copper industrials did not hold well and sagged with the receipt of copper quotations from London showing a decline in prices. The speculation looked somewhat askance at the terms announced for the new Pennsylvania stock issue, which was at a lower price than had been anticipated. As between the increased value of the subscription rights of the individual stockholders and the low credit for the corporation involved in the issue at par of a stock selling in the market in the neighborhood of 148, the appraisement of the operation was somewhat confused.

The resort of a stock issue in place of a bond issue is testimony to the faulty investment demand for fixed interest-bearing securities which had been remarked in the bond market throughout the latter stages of the active speculative demand for stocks. The 6 per cent dividend rate now existing on Pennsylvania stock, if maintained, is a high rate for new capital. The proceeds are to provide for the payment of $20,000,000 of notes which bore 5 per cent and of $20,000,000 of 6 per cent bonds falling due next year.

The stock market tone became somewhat drooping after the news of the Pennsylvania directors' action.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,393,000.

U. S. 2s declined 1-4 per cent on call.

BEARISH NEWS SENDS WHEAT PRICES DOWN

Volume of Trading Small—Russian Wheat Movement Was Depressive Effect.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—An array of bearish news and statistics depressed the wheat market here today, closing quotations showing net losses of 3-8 to 5-8@3-4. Coarse grains and provisions also were weak.

Wheat was inclined to weakness almost all day, although slight rallies occurred at times on covering by shorts. Despite the overwhelmingly bearish character of the news, the selling was not aggressive and the volume of trading was small. The market closed weak at almost the lowest point of the day, the December delivery closing at 104 3-4 after selling between 104 5-8 and 105 1-8.

One of the principal depressing factors was the almost record-breaking size of the wheat movement last week from Russia, total shipments being 7,728,000 bushels, only 64,000 short of the greatest amount ever shipped from that country in one week.

The corn market was firm early in the session. The market weakened during the final half. Prices at the close were almost at the lowest point and at net declines of 1-4@3-8 to 3-8.

Trading in oats was exceedingly quiet. The close was easy with prices a shade to 1-8@1-4 lower than Saturday's final figures.

Provisions were weak. Local packers were among the leading sellers. Prices closed 5@7 1-2 to 12 1-2 lower.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Because It's for One Thing Only, and Colorado Springs People Appreciate This.

Nothing can be good for everything. Doing one thing well brings success. Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing only.

They cure sick kidneys.

They cure backache, every kidney ill.

Here is Colorado Springs evidence to prove it.

Mrs. Caroline Anderson, 511 E. Platte Street, Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "In the summer of 1899, I publicly testified in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills, and when interviewed over seven years later, I gladly re-endorsed this medicine. At this time I think as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills as ever. I suffered severely from pains in my back and between my shoulders. My kidneys were very much disordered and nothing I tried helped me until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. Since taking them, I have had no serious trouble from my kidneys or back. I keep Doan's Kidney Pills on hand all the time, and when I take them, I never fail to get the desired benefit. Other members of my family have also used this excellent preparation with good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

TERRORS!

We are called when it comes to sales. All next week we will have a general cleaning up of various sizes of uncalled for Awnings, Horse Blankets, Lap Robes and Bed Blankets.

News of Local Courts

CAN'T FIND DEFENDANT.

A botion to serve summons by publication was filed in the district court yesterday by the plaintiff, in the divorce suit of Louise C. Tanner vs. Albert S. Tanner. Mrs Tanner, who was formerly a church choir singer in this city, and now sings at a local theater, was married in Corsicana, Texas, September 10, 1903, and claims that her husband deserted her about a year ago. In the motion filed yesterday, it is alleged that Tanner's whereabouts is unknown.

Alleging desertion, Ira B. Kutch secured a divorce from Maggie E Kutch in the county court yesterday. They were married in Cheyenne, Wyo., June 15, 1908.

P. H. Dodge filed suit in the county court yesterday against Thomas Owen to quiet title to land in El Paso county.

Judge J. W. Sheafor granted a divorce to Hattie White from Martin White, in the district court, yesterday, on the ground of drunkenness. The couple were married in Colorado City five years ago.

Croup is most prevalent during the dry cold weather of the early winter months. Parents of young children should be prepared for it. All that is needed is a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Many mothers are never without it in their homes and it has never disappointed them. Sold by all dealers.

EARLY COFFEE DRINKERS

From the London Chronicle

There is a quaint reference to coffee—which the commissioners of customs tell us is a declining drink in this country—in Burton's 'Anatomy of Melancholy.' "The Turks," writes Burton "have a drink called coffee (for they used no wine), so named of a berry as black as soot and as bitter (like that black drink which was in use among the Lacedaemonians, and perhaps the same), which they sip still off, and sup as warm as they can suffer; they spend much time in those coffee houses, which are somewhat like our alehouses or taverns, and there they sit chatting and drinking to drive away the time and to be merry together, because they find by experience that kind of drink so used helpeth digestion and procureth alacrity."

The introduction of coffee into this country dates from the period of the protectorate. According to a restoration pamphleteer, 'coffee and commonwealth came in together.' The first coffee house in London was established in 1652 by Pasqua Rosee the Armenian servant of a city merchant. Others were quick to follow. Naturally the publicans and owners of licensed houses viewed these innovations with alarm. Mr Hackwood, in his recently published book on "The Inns, Ales and Drinking Customs of Old England," recalls the case of one James Farre, who was accused of "making and selling of a drink called coffee, whereby in making the same he annoyed his neighbours by evil smells and for keeping of fire for the most part night and day, whereby his chimney and chamber hath been set on fire to the great danger and affrightment of his neighbours."

CHAMBER OF HORRORS NOVEL FEATURE OF CAMPAIGN AGAINST THE TAMMANY TIGER

Exhibit in the chamber of horrors and a stucco statue which has played an interesting part in the fight.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—"Tammany on the square!"

"No! Surely not."

"Yes. Long Acre square."

New Yorkers going down Broadway one morn not so long ago, were startled to see rising up like some white vision a fresh statue, seemingly representing a creature in long, white robes, which had been dumped in Long Acre square by some band of philistine citizens.

Rubbing their eyes and pinching themselves to make sure that they were not still asleep, the more venturesome advanced closer and examined the legend attached which purported that this deadly offense against art was the outcome of resolutions passed by persons unknown who, under the cloak of "The Association of New York," had resolved to confute the calumniators of their beloved city's purity in government by a representation of Purity. Further inspection showed that the figure which for reasons unknown, bore a shield, had unfortunately sustained, on the said shield three daubs of mud—not metaphorical—but real dirt—which some of the wiser among the crowd surmised might possibly mean that some one or other's fair name was sullied.

Two gentlemen who could not agree amicably as to whether the statue represented Sullivan or Murphy were handled somewhat roughly by a policeman, who thought it might be a statue of liberty erected by the Irish society. The mystery was cleared up somewhat by several worthy citizens who claimed to be responsible, and indignantly inquired why a lover of art (and of purity) might not indulge his fancies in the beautifying of the city which he honored with his habitation.

Up to date no lover of art has pertinently pointed out that in no other city of the world would a body of men be permitted to erect a stucco monstrosity upon a few boards roughly laid, one against the other, in the middle of a city's most prominent thoroughfare, and be permitted to escape the severest criticism, if not worse penalties.

The Citizens' Exhibit.

Union square has its statue also. But in this case a brazen-lunged megaphoner calls attention to the fact, which unlike "Purity," does not speak for itself. The "committee of one hundred" have established a "chamber of horrors," among the exhibits of which may be seen a representation of the "Lady and the Tiger." There the tiger may be seen, gracefully putting one foot upon an indescribable white figure, which has been labeled for identification purposes "Our City" to distinguish it from the young lady of Niger, and holding the other in the air with an air which its creators fondly imagine is one of terror striking ferocity. The allegorical group, it need not be explained, represents Tammany and its prey. The tiger bears on its tawny coat such legends as "Graft," "Inefficiency," while to point a moral and adorn its tail are the striking words—"Rotten Hose." That is something for every beholder to take away with him on his visit and ponder over.

"Rotten Hose!" There is something sinister in the sound of the words and the thousands of sightseers who drift in and gape at the cartoons and statistics, crowding each other out on the walls, must perforce stop in front of this group, which is shielded from the fiery talk which proceeds from the platform in front, by a screen of green baize, and meditate upon this. Several worthy gentlemen derive more than inspiration, as they sit in front of it and solemnly smoke their pipes, in musings of a political nature with special reference to the internal economics of a city, and as to how they would deal with the question in a spirit of fitting liberality.

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Making Good Makes Friends

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good"; and Dr. Pierce's medicines well exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards. A good, honest square deal medicine of known composition is

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that came into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly flashed into favor for a brief period and then been as soon forgotten.

If your torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, yellow discoloration, foul breath, pasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is as good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It's an honest, square deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper—no secret, no hocus-pocus humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have that you call for. Don't buy

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for woman's special ailments.

It makes sick women strong, sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago.

As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nervine it is unequaled. It won't satisfy those who want "booze," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy. They regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Yesterday's Express Adds the the Surplus Stock of Another Maker's High Class Garments at

One-Third Off

Opening the sale with the greatest purchase of suits, coats and dresses ever brought to the city and reinforcing the lot with still another surplus stock. It's a plunge in garment buying and the event will mark an epoch in garment selling in Colorado Springs

Yesterday's lot is confined principally to afternoon and evening dresses. Never has such enthusiasm prevailed as during the sale yesterday. Many garments were sold, yet the stock is of such magnitude that those who attend today will have equally as good choosing.

Ladies' and Misses' Coats, Suits, Dresses and Costumes, and they are the products of New York's foremost makers of women's clothes. Let us impress upon you that every price is made on conservative basis and when you buy at a THIRD OFF you are procuring values not duplicated elsewhere. A close comparison will convince you.

One Lot of 60 Suits Worth Ordinarily from $30 to $37.50, for

Instead of a third reduction on each suit the lot was bunched to us at one price, and we place the suits on sale accordingly. The lot will be on separate racks and you select any from among them for $21. There's a wide divergence of styles, showing the medium and long coats and the various styles of pleated and kilted skirts. Both ladies' and misses' sizes are represented and the color range is broad. Come prepared to make a selection. We're thoroughly enthused with the lot, and you will join in this enthusiasm.

KIRSCHNER'S FUR STORE

Established 1890 in Colorado Springs.

You read and hear about so-called fur dealers, of all kinds of names of furs, but the only place to get FURS is at a FURRIER'S, where you will get the REAL FURS at a LOWER PRICE and BETTER WORKMANSHIP.

1910 BUICKS 1910

I have just unloaded a carload of Buick Autos and shall display at my salesroom 4 different 1910 models. It is unnecessary for me to dwell upon their merits, as that is known to every school boy. Your neighbor has one, ask him.
